RAIL WORKERS READY TO STRIKE

Senators Seek Compromise On Judiciary Measure

ACT TO END FIGHT OVER COURT BILL

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(UP)—A determined bloc of Democratic senators strengthened a campaign to compromise President Roosevelt's judiciary program today, despite a declaration that the White House opposes any modification.

Claiming around 65 votes in the senate, the leaders of the drive indicated determination to continue their efforts at least until the president—not a spokesman—irrevocably rejects compromise.

Nine weeks of controversy over enlargement of the supreme court and the recent court decisions upholding New Deal legislation have convinced them that:

1. The administration can now achieve its legislative objectives without change in the supreme court.
2. A compromise by which two justices instead of six would be added to the court would be accepted and would make certain of a so-called "liberal" attitude.
3. Continuation of the present "bitter-end" controversy would permanently damage the party.
4. The close division of senate sentiment makes it impossible to overlook the danger of eventual disastrous defeat for the court bill.

The compromise negotiations continued as the senate judiciary committee heard the testimony of the Rev. Linus Lilly, head of the St. Louis university law college, preparatory to an executive session Saturday, when it may be decided to end the public hearings at once. Lilly opposed the court bill as "without precedent, without reason and without merit."

OPEN DRIVE TO CUT EXPENSES

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(UP)—President Roosevelt's attempt to avoid a greater 1937 deficit than anticipated today spurred an intensive government economy drive in the two and one-half months remaining in the present fiscal year.

Heads of government bureaus, directed by Mr. Roosevelt to reduce by May 1 on steps taken to reduce spending and the amount of estimated savings, prepared to retrench more drastically than at any time since the New Deal's accession to power.

Announcement of the president's economy drive was followed by a statement from the Agricultural Adjustment administration that approximately 850 employees will be "furloughed" May 1. Lay-offs were anticipated in other governmental departments and agencies.

CREW SAVED WHEN MOTORSHIP SINKS

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(UP)—Rear Admiral H. W. Marshall, commander of the 15th naval district, reported to the navy department that the motor ship Taiyo sank in Panama bay today after foundering on Danilade Rock, about four miles from Balboa, C. Z.

There were no casualties. The crew of 17 on the Taiyo was rescued by Capt. W. F. Jacobs of the port of Balboa.

The ship sent out an SOS about midnight. It is operated by the California Packing company.

SEEK TO AVERT S.F. HOTEL STRIKE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14.—(UP)—Final efforts to avert a hotel tie-up were made today as Walter G. Mathewson, federal conciliator, sought to renew negotiations between hotel operators and five unions representing employees.

Mathewson intervened on behalf of the government after negotiations deadlocked over preferential employment and other demands, and the five unions involved raised a strike vote.

Palm Springs Faces New Worm Attack

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., April 14.—(UP)—Appeals for volunteers went out from this desert resort today to help fight millions of worms, advancing on a one mile front and destroying all vegetation before it.

County Agriculture Commissioner A. E. Bittel said the worms are larvae of the white lined Sphinx moth. First noticed on the sand dunes south of the resort, they have advanced rapidly, eating all the verbenia, primrose and other flowers of the desert's spring carpet.

Once inside Palm Springs, Bittel said, the worms will destroy all lawns and landscaping. Ground covered by a similar invasio two years ago is still barren. Ground crews dug ditches and prepared oil.

NEW VICTORY FOR LOYALISTS

MADRID, April 14.—(UP)—The loyalist forces claimed a new victory against rebels on the Guadajajara front northeast of Madrid today. Military dispatches from the Drihuega sector reported they had pushed the insurgents back 10 miles.

The loyalists reported they had pressed on to the right of the Aragon highway on the Brihuega sector.

To the northwest of Madrid, they claimed to have advanced nearly five miles toward Navas Del Marques in the Sierra Guadarrama. One dispatch said the loyalists had occupied the railway station of the town.

The loyalist advance on Navas Del Marques followed intense artillery preparation. Aviation aided. The rebels made no attempt to defend the railway station, which is in a hollow at the mercy of forces holding surrounding hills.

On the other north-of-Madrid front at Brihuega the advance straightened out the loyalists' lines. The government troops apparently intended to advance in horseshoe formation, driving the rebels from Arsecilla and Almadrones.

On the outskirts of Madrid, Gen. Jose Miaja's defense forces composed of French and Polish volunteers shock troops, turned back all attempts to relieve insurgents isolated in University City.

STAATS COMPANY BUYS BOND ISSUE

Anaheim school district's $195,000 bond issue was sold by the county supervisors late yesterday to William R. Staats and company, and co-bidders, for par and a premium of $1053, with an interest rate of 3 1/2 per cent specified.

The bid, most favorable of seven offers submitted for the issue, demonstrates the growing slackness of the bond market within the last few months, and the lessening demand for issues of this character, which were eagerly sought not long ago.

Santa Ana school district, not long ago, was able to dispose of its $611,000 bond issue for retirement of its Green bill loan, at an interest rate of approximately 2 1/2 per cent.

Bidding jointly with the Staats house yesterday were Griffith, Wagenseller and Durst, and Banks, Huntley and company.

DUST STORM ADDS TO CHINA'S MISERY

SHANGHAI, April 14.—(UP)—The worst sand and dust storm in 20 years howled through western China today adding to the misery of millions of destitute peasants facing starvation in the famine provinces.

Reliable advices from Honan province, heart of the storm and famine area, reported that 3,000,000 Chinese will die for lack of food unless aided from the outside immediately. Normally, this area is the richest farming district in China—the "granary of Asia."

Solons Hit "Electives" In Decree

Challenge of the county supervisors to elected officials of the county as to who shall dictate the purchase of equipment and supplies for the officials, was formally flung by the purchasing department today to County Auditor W. T. Lambert, whose request for a certain make of typewriter was refused.

Requisition Disregarded
In a letter to Lambert from Purchasing Agent Eugene Fenelec, it was stated that in view of the supervisors' resolution of policy passed March 30, relating to "equitable distribution" of county business, Lambert's requisition for an L. C. Smith typewriter was being disregarded, "as any one of the other firms handling typewriters are in line for their share of patronage."

The refusal left the next move in the purchasing controversy up to Lambert, whose requisition for the make of typewriter handled only in Orange county by the Tiersman Typewriter company, of Santa Ana, was the first test of the supervisors' new policy of claiming dictation of purchases. Supervisor N. E. West, board committeeman for the purchasing department, has opposed granting business to the Tiersman company, claiming that firm has had a near monopoly of county business.

Cites Efficiency
Lambert gave no indications today regarding his plans or intentions with respect to the refusal of his request. His only comment was the terse remark that he didn't think "patronage," quoting from the purchasing agent's letter, "had any proper place in businesslike administration of office."

He had made his selection of a typewriter "on the same ground of efficiency that has caused nearly all other county departments to prefer that make of machine, and the service rendered by the dealer," he said.

ATLEE ATTACKS BILBAO ACTION

LONDON, April 14.—(UP)—The opposition, seeking to force Premier Stanley Baldwin's government to extend its protection of British shipping in Spanish waters, moved a vote of censure in the house of commons today.

Gallery Crowded
Maj. Clement R. Atlee, labor leader, moved the vote. The diplomatic gallery was crowded, including the ambassadors of Argentina, Belgium, Poland, Russia, Spain and Czechoslovakia.

It was a full debate, with the oratorical guns of the three big parties—conservatives, labor and liberal—taking part.

Atlee's motion read: "The house, taking note of the statement of the prime minister on the situation at Bilbao, deploring the failure of his majesty's government to give protection to British merchant ships on their lawful occasion."

Attack Government
The labor leader then made a scathing attack on the government, accusing it of spineless submission to the rebel blockade of the Bay of Biscay port, and of actually helping the blockade because it wants to aid the rebel cause.

Atlee charged that the government, in warning British ships that they would not be protected if they ventured to Bilbao, "is guilty of surrendering rights which the country always has maintained."

Sir John Simon, home secretary, replying for the government, insisted that its policy regarding Bilbao "is based on a policy of no interference, direct or indirect, in the affairs of Spain. This is the declared purpose of the government of this country and of France."

NEW LABOR POLICIES TO BE OUTLINED

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(UP)—A legislative program creating a new national labor policy designed to prevent strikes will be submitted to the labor-capital conference called by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, it was learned today.

It was reliably reported that the private meetings—to which Miss Perkins has invited 33 industrial and labor leaders—will be asked to determine what course to follow when collective bargaining, provided in the Wagner act, is unsuccessful.

Government officials believed that is the most serious problem confronting industry in its relations with labor. They predicted strikes to obtain union recognition will be virtually eliminated by supreme court validation of the Wagner act.

Miss Perkins hopes that her conference next Tuesday will find many of the "big names" of industry and labor seated across the table from each other. Among those invited were William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization; Myron C. Taylor, board chairman of U. S. Steel corporation; Gerard Swope, board chairman of General Electric corporation; and Harold G. Ickes, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and government officials.

SHAKEUP DUE FOR ONTARIO

TORONTO, Ont., April 14.—(UP)—A shakeup in the provincial government was threatened today as an outgrowth of the strike at Oshawa where employees of the General Motors Corporation of Canada are demanding union recognition.

Asserting that the cabinet must "present a united front" to what he called "foreign agitation and Communism," Premier Mitchell Hepburn asked that Minister of Labor David A. Croft and Attorney General Arthur W. Roebuck leave the ministry.

Hepburn announced he would himself assume the portfolio of labor minister. Minister of Mines Paul Leduc will take over the attorney generalship.

Hepburn said he had not yet decided what members of the government he would name to the portfolios of public welfare and municipal affairs, both of which were also held by Croft.

Roebuck, a strong liberal, had objected to Hepburn's stand on the strike and both he and Croft had indicated unwillingness to join the premier's fight "against the forces of John L. Lewis and Communism."

The strike at Oshawa is being sponsored by the United Automobile Workers of America, an affiliate of the Committee for Industrial Organization of which Lewis is chairman.

FATHER TO VISIT DAUGHTER FOLLOWING LONG SEPARATION

To see his daughter from whom he was separated when she was a tiny babe long has been the desire of T. B. Syck, of Austin, Minn. This desire will be fulfilled next week when the father, now 83 years of age, arrives in Orange to be a guest in the home of the daughter, Mrs. D. E. Medema, who lives on a ranch near Villa Park.

Father and daughter were separated when the mother passed away leaving eight daughters, the oldest 16 years of age and the two youngest twins, two weeks old. Mrs. Medema being one of the babies. Before she died, the mother had six sisters, one of whom, Mrs. Edward Sorg, is the wife of a naval officer stationed at San Diego. The Craigs moved to California with their niece and foster daughter and the families drifted apart.

Mrs. Sorg recently visited her sister here and she will see the second one of her sisters, Mrs. Oscar Olson, of Austin, who will accompany her father to California to visit in the Medema home, after the death of the mother.

STRIKERS, COMPANY SIGN PACT

As non-strikers voted to return to work, C. I. O. union leaders and plant officials signed a pact ending the strike which threw 11,500 men out of work at the Caterpillar Tractor company, Peoria, Ill. In voting by non-strikers 5482 favored return to work, and 286 approved continuation of the strike. Ballots were counted by two ministers and two business men. They are shown above, left to right, counting votes: The Rev. N. Y. Irish, Catholic priest; Arthur G. Davis, business man; the Rev. S. J. Altpeper, Protestant minister; Willard Waugh, auto dealer.

GOOD FAITH IN TWO OIL BILLS POLICIES TOLD GET APPROVAL

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(UP)—President Roosevelt supplemented his prepared address to the board of governors of the Pan-American union today with a strongly-worded pledge of this country's good faith in her foreign policies.

In an unusual procedure, the United Press learned, the president remained standing after concluding his formal speech, made sure that microphones had been deadened and then launched into an informal of the record supplementary statement. No reporters were present.

It was learned that the president outlined the promises made by his administration four years ago and compared them with accomplishments in an evident attempt to prove good faith. Promises have been made by others, he told the diplomats, but ours have been carried out.

As a further demonstration of good faith the president recalled that soon after his inauguration he called in diplomatic representatives and assured them that this country would not intervene in Cuba. And we did not, he said.

In his formal speech President Roosevelt placed continuation and improvement on the American continents before the world today as "the most important guarantee of international peace."

Mr. Roosevelt said: "Democracy cannot thrive in an atmosphere of international insecurity. Such insecurity breeds militarism, regimentation and the denial of freedom of speech, of peaceful assembly and of religion."

REARDON'S SON, GIRL KILLED

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14.—(UP)—Louis V. Reardon, son of Timothy A. Reardon, chairman of the state industrial accident commission, and a young woman companion identified as Edith Tully, 24, a nurse at St. Mary's Hospital, were killed early today when their automobile crashed into a concrete stand protecting a safety zone.

MURDER REVEALS ESPIONAGE PLOT

TELAVIV, Palestine, April 14.—(UP)—The murder of Jacob Zwaniger, former Soviet vice commissar of harbors, led today to "the secret service headquarters of a foreign power vitally interested in expansion in the Mediterranean," police said.

Investigators reported: "We already know enough to be certain we have crossed the trail of one of the most important and alarming espionage rings in the history of the near east."

Increasing belief was expressed by police today that Zwaniger, who disappeared March 19 and whose body was later found buried in an orange grove was killed because he knew too much about "foreign intrigue designed to wrest Palestine from Great Britain."

They thought that the solution of his murder would also solve the arms smuggling incidents in Jaffa just before the outbreak of the Palestine revolution in April, 1936.

Ford Ready To Increase Wage Scale

DEARBORN, Mich., April 14.—(UP)—Henry Ford, tanned and refreshed after his winter vacation in Georgia, returned to work today, undisturbed by the supreme court's Wagner act decision and determined to show other automobile manufacturers "what real competition is."

No Effect on Company
The 73-year-old producer, vigorous opponent of the labor union that has won recognition from his chief competitors—General Motors and Chrysler—declared that the Ford Motor company "has always been fair and the Wagner Labor Relations act can have no effect upon us."

Ford announced the start of an expansion program that will include the hiring of more workers and the paying of higher wages. He refused to discuss reports that his wage scale would be boosted to $10 a day, but said:

"I'm going to give them competition and you can't compete on low wages."

Inspects Factory
Ford inspected his River Rouge factory—largest automotive plant in the world—and showed great interest in a new $2,000,000 turbo-generator which will step up the factory's power supply by 50 per cent. It was part of the expansion program.

Interviewed Ford what he thought of the "A.F.O.L. and the C. I. O." He smiled.

"Do you know," he said, "I don't (Continued On Page 2, Column 2)

AID RUSHED TO STRICKEN SHIP

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14.—(UP)—The French line's steamer Bretagne, carrying 300 passengers, was reported aground today at Point Galero near Porto Colombia, Central America, by the Marine department of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

The Bretagne sailed from Southampton March 26 for San Francisco.

The marine department said the wrecking tug, Killefer, left Kingston, Jamaica, under full steam to aid the stricken liner.

The Bretagne was to have docked here May 12.

Porto Colombia is on the Atlantic side of the Republic of Colombia, near the coastal city of Barranquilla.

The Bretagne, French line officials said, is 400 feet long and has a displacement of 15,000 tons. Her capacity is 440 passengers, they said, but indicated the vessel was not carrying a full list.

Line officials said they had received only fragmentary reports that the ship was in distress, but they said they had no particulars as to the nature of the trouble.

WORKERS TO LEAVE JOBS NEXT FRIDAY

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, April 14.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today created a three-man board to investigate and report to him on disputes between the Southern Pacific and the Northwestern Pacific railroad companies and their employees.

The board will be composed of Dr. Dexter Keezer, president of Reed college, Portland, Ore.; Charles Kerr, Washington, D. C. attorney; G. Stanleigh Arnold, San Francisco, lawyer.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14.—(UP)—Officers of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers announced today the strike of 3500 workers in the Pacific division of the Southern Pacific will go into effect Friday at 6 p. m.

Barring a last minute settlement, the walkout will become effective throughout the railroad company's extensive lines in the western states, C. V. McLaughlin, vice president of the firemen and engineers, and C. M. Smith, vice president of the railway trainmen, said. Only other possibility of averting the walkout, McLaughlin said, is intervention by President Roosevelt.

The strike would involve trainmen from Portland to Dawson, N. M., and would include the Northwestern Pacific. Officers of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Order of Railway Conductors pointed out their unions are not involved in the dispute.

Dr. William M. Leiserman, member of the National Mediation board, who has been conferring with representatives of the brotherhoods and management for several days, said he sent his report on the situation to the board in Washington last night, in which he said he exhausted all resources at his command.

"The National Mediation board has officially notified the brotherhoods that they are unable to compose the differences in the dispute between the two organizations and the management of the Southern Pacific company," McLaughlin and Smith announced jointly.

Death today claimed one of Orange county's pioneer settlers, Edward M. Kraemer, 75, of Olive, Mr. Kraemer first came to Orange county in 1867 with his parents, who settled on a 3900 acre section of land purchased from the original owners of the San Juan Cajon de Santa Ana Rancho located near Placentia.

Mr. Kraemer's father, Daniel Kraemer, came to Orange county in 1865, and was the first white man to settle in the Placentia area. After purchasing property near Placentia, he returned to his family in Illinois. It was two years later that the entire family moved to Orange county to establish their homes.

Edward Kraemer moved with his family from Placentia to Olive 25 years ago and had lived there ever since. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rosalie Kraemer; four sons, Rensold, Herman and Alfred Kraemer, all of Anaheim, and Walter Kraemer, of Placentia; a daughter, Miss Olga Kraemer, of Olive; two brothers, Samuel and Benjamin Kraemer, of Placentia; two sisters, Mrs. Emma Grimshaw and Mrs. Mary Miller, both of Anaheim.

The body is at the Backs, Terry and Campbell mortuary in Anaheim. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

OIL TAX BILL SUBMITTED

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 14.—(UP)—An assembly bill to place a three cents a gallon tax on Diesel oil used in motor vehicles went to the upper house today with a do pass recommendation from the senate revenue and taxation committee. Already approved by the lower house, it needed a favorable vote in the senate before going to the governor for signature.

LUMBER BOAT AND FREIGHTER COLLIDE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14.—(UP)—A Japanese freighter and a coastal lumber ship collided in a fog outside Golden Gate today, but both ships apparently were only slightly damaged.

Radio reports said the inbound General Steamship company's Kosei Maru "bumped" the outbound Anderson and Middleton company steamer Claremont, bound for Los Angeles laden with lumber.

The Kosei Maru was able to proceed after the collision and was continuing on to her berth at pier 33, according to the General Steamship corporation agents.

Coast guard stations inside and outside San Francisco bay placed cutters in readiness to go to the assistance of either ship, but guardmen said they had received no distress signal.

Guardmen said both ships were traveling at a slow speed, feeling their way through a pea-soup fog when the collision occurred.

It could not be learned immediately whether the Claremont had suffered any damage, or whether the ship was continuing out the Golden Gate or returning for a checkup.

BITTER COURT FIGHT BEGINS IN CHECK CASE

What apparently will be a bitter two-day battle, began in Santa Ana justice court today before Judge Kenneth Morrison, when T. R. Gillenwaters, who claims he is an ex-district attorney of Klamath Falls, Ore., "and no criminal," faced preliminary hearing on the charge he issued fictitious check for $1000 with intent to defraud.

As a challenge to his prosecutors, W. N. Miller and others, of the La Vida Mineral Springs company, Placencia, Gillenwaters has hurled a $105,000 damage suit against them, in superior court. They charge him with issuing a $1000 fictitious check on a Hollywood bank.

SEEK END OF COURT FIGHT

Visitors who talked with Mr. Roosevelt since Supreme court validation of the Wagner labor Relations act said he was not convinced that the court offered any assurance of constitutionality for other New Deal social and economic legislation, such as a child labor law and national regulation of wages and hours.

30 Senators Uncommitted

It was contended that more than 30 senators still uncommitted on the court bill were eager to line-up behind a compromise. In addition, at least that many who have declared themselves either for or against were described as ready to back a modified solution of the conflict.

Among the more powerful senate figures counted on to favor a settlement although some have remained comparatively silent on the issue were: Sen. James Byrnes, D., S. C.; Sen. Pat Harrison, D., Miss.; Sen. George Norris, Ind.; Sen. M. M. Logan, D., Ky.; Sen. Pat McCarran, D., Nev.; and Sen. Robert F. Wagner, D., N. Y.

Lemke Freed Of Blame In Death Of Timken Boy

Harland Lemke, Santa Ana canyon youth, was exonerated today by a coroner's jury at Shannon's funeral chapel, Orange, in connection with death of Gilbert Timken, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Timken, Olive, Sunday, who was shot to death. The shooting was declared accidental.

Timken, celebrating his 14th birthday, had gone to the Santa Ana river bed with several friends to shoot target with .22 caliber rifles. Young Lemke brought his .410 special shotgun with him and was attempting to fix it when it discharged, sending a shot through his friend's heart.

Funeral services for Gilbert were scheduled for this afternoon at the Shannon chapel and St. Paul's Lutheran church, Olive, with interment at St. John cemetery, Orange.

KEN Murray SAYS:

HOLLYWOOD, April 14.—Am glad to learn my old pals, the Broadway press agents, have got together without a sitdown strike to demand $100 a week minimum pay. Well, they deserve it. It is a very hazardous profession. I once knew a fellow who was two weeks in advance of "Ten Nights in a Barroom." He died of thirst.

Among other drawbacks to this fascinating trade are long vacations (without pay), embezzlement of company managers (with pay), long collect telegram (received) and night life (misspent).

They also have to see to it that beautiful stage ingenues are always reported engaged to Harvard boys when the shows in Boston. Yale lads when playing New Haven, Princeton fellows during the split week at Trenton, N. J., and mail order students when playing Scranton, Penn. A hundred bucks a week seems hardly enough.

FORD TO PAY HIGHER WAGES

know what any of those letters mean."

Then he added:

Free To Join Unions

"I have spent 33 years in building up my business. Our men have been free to join anything they like. We have no restrictions. I only say that I don't see what our men gain by joining a union. They lose their freedom and win only the right to pay dues to someone."

"Will you go along with the Wagner act?"

"That remains to be seen. I don't know a thing about that, except that it has been a law for three years and I can't see that the supreme court ruling has changed the situation any."

Ford said that there had been "too great an effort at stabilization of wages, costs and prices in recent years. Wall street and the financial mind is seeking a cessation of hostilities. Wall street always wants to raise prices, and it is making an effort to control everything—even labor unions."

He indicated that in his opinion the Wagner act was designed to stabilize the labor market and that it had Wall street's approval.

TEAMSTERS' HEAD TO FIGHT OUSTER

OAKLAND, Calif., April 14. — (UP) — Clifford Lester, deposed president of the local Teamsters' union, announced he will start legal proceedings in Alameda county superior court at once, fighting his ouster by the American Federation of Labor in a jurisdictional labor dispute.

Lester indicated he will ask either for a writ of mandate or temporary restraining order against the A. F. of L., seeking the federation to show cause why he should not be reinstated to his position.

Lester and six other officers of the Teamsters' union were ordered ousted by the A. F. of L. for their refusal to pass through picket lines of the Warehousemen's union, after the warehousemen had been directed to change their affiliation from the International Longshoremen's association to the teamsters.

NOTE OF GERMANY STUDIED BY POPE

VATICAN CITY, April 14.—(UP)—Pope Pius, deeply concerned over conditions in Nazi Germany, studied today a sharp Nazi note of protest against "political" activities of the Roman Catholic church there.

It was understood that a chief topic of consideration was whether the Vatican should snub the German government by ignoring the note completely.

Vatican sources had warned that if the note was too strongly worded the Pope might decline to reply.

It was intimated today, however, as the Pope studied the note with Cardinal Pacelli, his secretary of state, that he would take some time in making a decision which affected 22,000,000 Catholics in Germany.

LABOR POLICY TO BE OUTLINED

extending her invitation that the conference would discuss the need of new safeguards for industry to balance gains achieved by labor under the Wagner act.

Conservation with administration sources indicated that legislation seeking to bind responsibility of labor unions to contracts under the Wagner act would be discussed during the next few weeks.

New Law Proposed

It was learned that certain attorneys close to President Roosevelt in labor matters have advised him that a law requiring incorporation of labor unions is the next advisable step in formulating a labor policy. Mr. Roosevelt has indicated that he is favorably inclined towards such a statute.

Organized labor factions have traditionally opposed such a step. However, it was believed by well-advised sources that union leaders could be persuaded to change their viewpoint.

Counselors to the president pointed out that if no new law limiting labor powers is passed, such an act as the British trades union law may be sponsored by congress. This provides that all union funds must be accounted for to the government and that unions cannot participate in sympathy or general strikes.

Board Appeal Sought

A trend, already reported to be gathering force, would ask that employers be granted power to appeal to the labor board against allegedly unfair labor practices by unions.

One of the items that will be presented to the conference for consideration is a program which has been submitted to Speaker William B. Bankhead, D., Ala. It calls for extension of the Railway Labor act principles to other industries and is backed by the National Association of Manufacturers.

CHILD ATTACKED BY MONKEY GETS $1000

William Holt, young Laguna Beach child attacked by a monkey at Laguna Beach last year, today was awarded $1000 damages by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel, after extended litigation.

The child's suit, which had been brought through the mother, Mrs. Jessie Jackson, against William A. Rittenmeyer, owner of the monkey, alleged that the animal was vicious and dangerous and had been carelessly allowed to escape by its owner.

Judge Scovel, who heard the case some time ago and has since had it under advisement, filed his written opinion today, granting the damage award.

Where negligent maintenance is proven, the question of the vicious nature of the monkey becomes immaterial, the court ruled.

Cotton Blossom Group To Sing

Santa Ana music lovers tonight will hear one of the finest colored choruses in the nation, when the Cotton Blossom singers will present a program of Negro spirituals. The singers will appear in the auditorium of the First Congregational church, Main and Church streets. They are sponsored by members of the local Congregational League of Youth.

Those who compose the group are students in the Piney Woods School in Mississippi. Each year, several groups tour the continent, and appear in churches and auditoriums. They travel by means of house-cars, and rehearse programs while they are moving from city to city.

The concert tonight will be composed of a number of Negro spirituals depicting their life and customs.

Rotarians Hear Of Night Court

Judge LeRoy Dawson of Los Angeles described the procedure of the night court at the Rotary club meeting yesterday afternoon.

Judge Dawson stated that night court cases consisted primarily of cases of drunkenness which result in three-cornered contests between the court, the offender and society.

Every offender convicted means that some one else's family or friends must share the punishment but have not shared in the crime.

"Old men drunks, friendless, homeless and alone, are the most pathetic cases," the Judge said.

"No one is sorry for the friendless old man. He is the one who needs our sympathy and help."

New officers of the club will be formally installed July 1.

"MUSTARD" AND POP MIX, AND TWO BOYS GET IN POLICE NET

Mustard and pop got two 15-year-old Santa Ana boys entangled in a police net last night.

Biney Mustard, engineer in the city water department, discovered them in an attempted theft of soda pop from the Davis Bottling Works, 807 West First street, and five police officers did the rest.

Seeing "two men or boys" climbing over a fence at the bottling plant, Mustard reported and Officers A. F. Moulton and Oet Gross immediately "staked out" at the place while Officers Roy Hartley and Burnette Lane were called to the scene. Forming a police "net" about the place, the officers entered and found the boys under a shed. On command of the officers, the pair came out.

"We came to get some pop," the boys said. "We really didn't think about how serious it was." Capt. R. S. Elliott, at police headquarters, explained the burglary aspects of the offense and sent the boys home after they promised never to attempt such an act again.

Traffic Fines Aggregate $202

Seven speeders and a reckless driver were fined a total of $202 by City Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday, as police nabbed eight other speeders, two persons operating without driver's license, a boulevard stop jumper, a user of faulty muffler and a motorist who failed to appear in court at proper time.

J. W. McCain, 318 Grant, Santa Ana, was fined $150 after pleading guilty on a reckless driving count. Speeders fined include James N. Douglas, Laguna Beach, $6; Albert Taylor, Fullerton, $10; Hugo Kinner, Orange, $6; John Makely, Costa Mesa, $5; S. Nagamatsu, Route 1, Huntington Beach, $14; Carl M. Becker, Santa Ana, $5, and Earl Spangler, Hollywood, $6.

Boulevard stop jumpers fined $2 each, were Mrs. Carrie Ferrin, Route 1, Garden Grove; William White, Route 1, Santa Ana; Demesio Llevano, El Modena, and Vera Freeland, San Diego.

PROGRAM OPENS TO AID HEALTH OF COMMUNITY

Plans for an enlarged program to combat tuberculosis in Orange county was under way today following an address here this week by Dr. Carl R. Dawson, M. D., of Los Angeles, an international authority on the disease.

The Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association formulated these extensive plans at its annual luncheon meeting at Danliger's.

Tells of Progress
"The tuberculosis death rate has been reduced from 500 to 51.5 per hundred thousand population in the last 100 years," the speaker said. "Although the degenerative disease such as heart, cancer, kidney and high blood pressure kill more people, they take their greatest toll after middle age."

"Tuberculosis, a communicable disease, still is our major problem in the prime of life, 15 to 45 years of age," the doctor pointed out.

The internationally famous authority cited the invention of Laennec's stethoscope, which has helped the physician his chief diagnostic tool.

Members Elected
"Our field of activity will have to be broad in scope for a good many years before tuberculosis can be brought to an irreducible minimum," Dr. Howson said.

Three new board members were elected and seven re-elected at the luncheon meeting.

The new members are LeRoy Lyon of Anaheim; Mrs. Robert McDonald of Laguna Beach and Mrs. James Anderson of Santa Ana.

Those re-elected included Mrs. Albert Launer, Fullerton; Dr. H. Milton Counter, Buena Park; Jack Colvin and J. W. Bristol of Huntington Beach; Mrs. Frank Lewis, Newport Beach; Mrs. Clara Berg, San Clemente and Mrs. Albert S. Walker of Yorba Linda.

Veteran Grower Dies At Home

Reuben Bradley, 87, R. D. Box 153, Santa Ana, died at his home on East Santa Clara street yesterday after an illness of several weeks.

A native of England, Bradley was brought to the United States when he was one year old. He has been a resident of Orange county for 35 years and was an orange grower.

He is survived by a step-son, Leo Davis of Santa Ana, and a brother, William A. Bradley of Verdale, Wis.; besides a niece, Mrs. Lola Meade Martin of Fletcher, Okla.

Funeral services will be held from the Winbiger mortuary at 10 a. m. Friday with Rev. George A. Warner officiating. Burial will be at the Fairhaven cemetery.

EVERYTHING READY FOR BIG PINGO CONTEST OPENING IN BIRCH PARK HERE TOMORROW

Score of boys and girls today literally were "hitting the ball" in intensive practice, preparatory to the first competitive "Pingo" matches tomorrow at 4 p. m. in Birch Park, Victor E. Walker of Walker's theater, reported today, after making a survey.

The prize contests in connection with "Pingo," a brand new game played with wooden paddle and celluloid ball, are being sponsored in a five weeks program, by Walker's theater and The Register. Object of the game, as many already have learned, is to keep the ball bouncing skillfully on the paddle, on the elbow, foot or head.

At tomorrow's contest in the park, candy bars will be given to every boy or girl who appears, whether they have "Pingo" sets or whether they intend entering the first contest. Yesterday, 12 sets were given away by R. M. Conklin, Register circulation manager.

VETERANS GATHER FOR SOCIAL FETE

Calumet Camp and Auxiliary, United Spanish War Veterans, held their April joint social meeting last night in the Knights of Columbus hall. With Commander Charles L. Reagan acting as master of ceremonies, 50 persons listened to a review of one of the latest novels entitled "Cities of Refuge," given by Mrs. Edith Cloyes of the Speakers' Bureau of the Orange County Forum.

This feature had been secured by Mrs. Jean Tantlinger, president of Calumet Auxiliary.

After the review, cards were played and refreshments of sandwiches served by the committee, Mrs. Katherine Reagan and Mrs. Dana Isbell.

Mrs. Forster Is Granted Share

At a hearing before Superior Judge H. G. Ames yesterday, Mrs. Dolores Forster, widow of the late Marcus Forster, of San Juan Capistrano, was granted a family allowance of $50 per month from the estate, the allowance to be dated back to the time of her husband's death, last October 13.

Her petition to set aside a three-acre parcel of property at Main and San Fernando streets, San Juan Capistrano, as a homestead, was opposed by Hope England, executrix of the estate, and daughter of Forster, on the ground that the parcel was separate property of the deceased. This was finally stipulated, but the court indicated that the family dwelling and site would be carved out of the piece and set aside for the widow. The hearing therefore was continued to April 16.

Educators Will Figure In Talk Tomorrow Night

Prominent Santa Ana educators will discuss methods by which dictators control schools, with Dr. John Brown Mason, forum leader, at the Francis Willard auditorium at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow.

This is part of the "lecture night" program of the Department of Adult Education of the evening high school.

Ray Atkinson, superintendent of schools; Frank Henderson, superintendent of Santa Ana schools, and Lynn Crawford, Santa Ana high school principal, are to figure in the discussion.

Dr. Mason made a close study of education under the Nazis during a recent European trip.

P.-T.A. Members To Meet Friday

Members of the Paulerino P.-T.A. and friends, will meet Friday night at 7:30 o'clock, in Paulerino school to hear a lecture and to see pictures presented by Mrs. Evelyn Kraus Perry, county school supervisor, on the subject of "Mexico," it was announced today.

Following the lecture-pictures program, a pie social will be held by the P.-T.A. group.

U. S. CHANGES SHOWN IN TALK FOR BUILDERS

Walter J. Ferris, public relations representative of the Southern Counties Gas company, traced the development and changes during the growth of the United States at the Orange County Builders exchange meeting at the Hughes cafe, Fullerton, last night.

Ferris pointed out that a large expansion in building and industry would take place within the next three and a half years and urged the builders to prepare for it.

This was the first meeting held under the direction of G. W. Bassett, newly elected executive secretary of the organization.

A sound motion picture of deep sea fishing off the California coast was shown. Scenes of combats between rivers and an octopus and a battle between a whale and a sword fish were highlights of the picture.

Thurman Means made a report on the apprenticeship plan which the Builders' exchange will foster in cooperation with educational leaders throughout the country.

George Young, who presided at the meeting, introduced Bassett, newly elected secretary of the organization, who briefly outlined his plans.

Sixty members attended the meeting.

WRESTLING CLASS TO BE ORGANIZED

Dick Mather, who has had considerable experience as an amateur wrestler, will head the Y. M. C. A. grappling class to be organized at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow, Ralph C. Smedley announced today.

It is hoped there will be sufficient interest in the sport so a Santa Ana team can be organized for Southern California Y.M.C.A. league competition this summer.

Both beginners and advanced grapplers will begin workouts Thursday evening.

County Puts Ban On Parking In Annex Driveway

Parking of cars in the courthouse annex driveway, a growing nuisance in connection with use of the driveway for its intended purpose, will be immediately stopped.

Supervisor Steele Finley, board committeeman for the courthouse and grounds, will cut the parkers off at the pockets, by the simple expedient of closing the driveway.

He discussed the proposal with the board yesterday and got approval for the plan of stretching chains across both ends of the circular driveway. Drivers having legitimate errands will remove the chains to enter and exit. But there will be no parking inside.

Clients of the welfare department who have been accustomed to using the driveway, will find it more convenient to use the Birch street entrance, Finley pointed out.

The idea of closing the driveway was adopted as an alternative to widening it, and permitting parking to continue. That would cost $350, it was found.

LXX
An ancient ship with flying sails
Of color red as a beet,
Hove near a dock one summer's day,
Not far from a battle fleet.

The captain was a funny wag,
Nervous and jumpy, too;
He hailed the admiral of the fleet,
And asked to be let through.

"What's your name?" the admiral asked,
The captain answered, "Meyer,
Beer and rum are my favorite drinks,
They set my throat on fire."

The admiral said, "Now you may go,
Unhindered by such drink
To sail that ship by sails alone,
Stay sober, or you'll sink."

EMBLEM TO BE PLACED ON ALL COUNTY AUTOS

Brightly-colored Orange county emblems of smart design shortly will decorate the sides of the county's trucks, tractors and automobiles. It was announced late yesterday by Supervisor Harry D. Riley, of Anaheim, board committeeman for the county garage, after the board had approved Riley's proposal.

Not only will the emblems provide a distinctive decoration for county rolling stock, but they will effect a material financial saving, Riley pointed out.

Two designs were inspected by the board yesterday. One was a reproduction of a huge orange, with a gold ribbon belting it, and the inscription "County of Orange." The other was a circular orange against a background of snow-capped peaks. It carried the same inscription. Riley and other board members expressed a preference for the first, named design.

New Subdivision
The board yesterday approved a new subdivision in Lemon Heights, owned by Julius P. Hatzfeld, Martin C. Hatzfeld, the Red Hill Water company, The Irvine company, and the Lemon Heights Mutual Water company.

Hearing of a petition to annex certain territory to the Buena Park Water Works district was set for May 4 at 11 a. m.

Another week's postponement was given the petition from Yorba school patrons, asking the board to rescind transfer of that district from Placentia to Yorba Linda district. The board still is awaiting an opinion from the district attorney.

Can't Drain Puddles
The county cannot legally appropriate funds for draining ponds of storm water off private lands, the board was advised yesterday by Deputy District Attorney Harold McCabe. An exception is allowed, McCabe said, in cases where public health is affected, or where county roads have caused the accumulation of water.

Highway Superintendent A. A. Beard stated that Inspector W. W. Chandler, of the health department, had indicated that public health might be involved, and that the county might soon be asked to provide funds for spraying the ponds against mosquitoes.

Morgan Picture Market Bearish

J. P. Morgan took off his hat to one photographer and offered his umbrella to another at a Long Island society wedding—although hardly in his lately amiable fashion. Lulled by the international banker's friendliness of the past two years, newsmen leveled cameras at him as he stepped out of fashionable St. John's of Lettington church. First he ducked behind his high top in the flower-lined canopy, then strode angrily at Cameraman Cantor with his umbrella, while other photographers busily clicked shutters to get the scene below.

DEBATERS ARGUE FINE POINTS OF SIT-DOWN STRIKES AS THEY MEET BEFORE FORUM AUDIENCE

Sit-down strikes with their peaceful aspect, have staved off revolution in this country, Dr. C. J. Ruley told an interested audience at last night's Forum for Political and Economic Education, where he debated with Atty. Franklin G. West, the subject, "Resolved, That Sit-Down Strikes, Under Present Conditions, Are Justified."

Holding that labor should have a right to organize and even enter into peaceful picketing if necessary, Attorney West, who took the negative of the subject, roundly condemned sit-down strikes as unlawful taking of rights, as trespassing, as unconstitutional, "under present conditions or any other conditions."

Accept Losses Too
"If men think they have legal right to hold forth in a sit-down strike, then, under the law, they must be partners in the concern, willing to accept profits but also willing to accept—pay for—losses, too," Attorney West said.

Dr. Ruley outlined conditions "from the 18th century to the present," arguing that "The constant concentration of wealth by the capitalists has created a cycle of the poor pushing westward, and now being stopped at the west coast."

"Now it's like a dog chasing a cat," he said. "As long as there is space ahead, the cat will continue running. When the cat comes to a well and is blocked off, it will turn on the dog and either scratch his eyes or chase him. That is parallel to the present, with labor scratching back after being cornered. It came to the point where labor was forced to accept conditions offered by capital or do something about them. It is doing something about them. I want to congratulate labor that it chose the peaceful, sit-down strike instead of revolution. At present, it would be the most dangerous thing possible to permit the industrialists to dictate conditions for labor and to fix prices of products, if it were allowed, the industrialists would have the power of dictatorship and war would result."

Safe Method
The affirmative speaker contended the safe and sane method is being carried out now, though encouragement of labor to organize and to create, thus, a three-way check and balance among labor, capital and the government, the government to be arbiter.

Capital has been, heretofore, "an invisible government," he said, and always "too cocky" controlling courts and legislatures.

"The people have discovered Roosevelt as the greatest president since Lincoln, with the milk of human kindness in his heart," Dr. Ruley said. "When his kindness reached down to the poor, the industrialists became infuriated. The president chuckled when industrialists could not cope with the sit-downers. He told the industrialists, 'You're kidding me. I was in 1932 when the NRA was ordered, and now it is my turn to laugh. No, the government has no right to intervene in the sit-down trouble.' A worker represents an investment of $14,000, using the same candor it demands that capital use.

"It certainly is fundamental, whether a laborer's personal investment is $14,000 worth of labor, or not, that he cannot legally be a sit-down striker because he must be a partner in the concern, to share both gain and loss, and a sit-down striker does not share losses. The sit-down striker is a trespasser. Every man's home—or factory—is his castle. Labor should resort to collective bargaining through the Wagner bill privilege and by force of public opinion, not by trespassing."

Kept From Work

During the general discussion, Lew Betts argued the sit-down strike is not "peaceful" because any attempt to oust the sit-downers would result in use of force. He claimed such strike method is not a battle between capital and labor but between one group of laborers and another, one group of laborers sitting on the job to keep another group of laborers from working.

Sam Hurwitz was program chairman, W. H. (Ted) Blanding, meeting chairman, upon the occasion. Next Tuesday night's meeting subject will be announced later.

To enable his army to cross the Tigris and Euphrates rivers, the emperor Julian had built a bridge of boats made of skins stretched tightly over osier frames.

TICKETS GO ON SALE HERE FOR LECTURE NIGHT

Tickets for the Richard Halliburton lecture at Santa Ana High school, Friday, April 23, went on sale at the Santa Ana Book store this morning.

Many local citizens will be interested in the forthcoming lecture by the world traveler, lecturer, and author. The lecture is sponsored by the Santa Ana High school.

Halliburton has lived the life of an adventurer and a wanderer since he was a boy. After several years in Spain, Egypt and India, he came back to the United States with a manuscript called "The Royal Road to Romance."

Since then he has written four other books that have amazed a critical world, with their audacity and strange happenings. In his Santa Ana lecture, Halliburton will tell of his many experiences. For the first time before a local audience, he will reveal the true details of the assassination of the Russian royal family. Every seat in the high school auditorium will be reserved. The tickets will be on sale until the night of the lecture.

THIRTY SHAVELESS DAYS IN STORE FOR YOUTHS AT JAYSEE

No shaves for a month!

That's what awaits men students at Santa Ana Junior college who enter the annual beard growing contest. Held in conjunction with the tenth annual Fiesta, the contest is sponsored by the Orphan Kiddies club.

With the Fiesta scheduled for Friday, May 14, those who are to permit their chin growths to sprout, will have to undergo many embarrassing moments, and jibes from their fellow students.

But it's all in fun and in the spirit of the occasion, according to Fiesta officials. Not only is it in fun, but for prizes to be given by Santa Ana merchants.

The list of prizes includes wearing apparel suitable to the college student.

The awards now are on display in college hall. Evelyn Chapman, president of the O. K. club, is in general charge of the contest. The students registered this noon.

Fred Pinkston, football player, won the prize for the bushiest beard last year. Paul Christ was awarded the prize for the most appropriate beard, while Max Galusha won the prize for the scrappiest. The same classifications will be used this year, it was said.

The auditorium will be reserved. The tickets will be on sale until the night of the lecture.

ANAHEIM BOY IS HELD BY COURT

One of three Anaheim boys recently found drunk on North Main street, was arrested here last evening on a burglary complaint. Juvenile officials will take charge of his prosecution.

The youth, 14, was arrested by two local store officials and Detective Sergeant Hunter Leach after he assertedly was caught in the act of stealing three boxes of .32 caliber revolver cartridges. Opera glasses and a bill fold, assertedly stolen from a second store, were found in the boy's possession.

The boy and two companions admitted stealing a bottle of liquor from a local drug store, drinking it and becoming intoxicated. They

HANDBALL PLANS PUSHED BY GROUP

Handball will become a major sport in Santa Ana if plans of the Y. M. C. A. handball committee, headed by Dr. G. E. Raitt, can be worked out, it was learned following a meeting to boost the sport.

Plans to provide additional handball courts at the Y. M. C. A. to supplement the one court that has been in use for the last nine years are being considered.

Two standard courts are to be erected on the north side of the Y. M. C. A. and the old court is to be repaired to provide better facilities.

Dr. Raitt pointed out that though the court at the Y. M. C. A. is outmoded and inadequate, it is the only enclosed court in Santa Ana.

Men working with Dr. Raitt on the project are Newell Vandermaast, W. L. Hall, Crawford Nalle, Dr. Ralph Watson, Dr. John M. Bulpitt, Orlyna Robertson and Kenner Taylor.

were sobered, later, by county hospital attendants who wheeled stomach pumps to good advantage.

Lily Pons Returns To Radio

"The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here."

By HOMER CANFIELD

WEDNESDAY, April 14.—With NINO MARTINI ON A concert tour that will eventually bring him to Hollywood one again, Lily Pons steps back into the radio picture.

The program, of course, is Andre Kostelanetz' Chatterfield series. Fresh from concert, opera and film triumphs, the little Cinderella coloratura should find a hearty welcome awaiting her. And should she be greeted with "many happy returns" it will have a double meaning—for today not only marks her premiere but is also her birthday.

On the program we find two songs from her latest picture. They are "Seal It With a Kiss" and a special coloratura arrangement of "Blue Danube Waltz." From opera she has chosen the familiar "Hymn to the Sun," with contemporary America music getting attention in "The Bird Song," by LaForge.

To uphold his end of the show, Kostelanetz will lead his forty-five musicians through special treatments of "Good Night Ladies," "Too Marvelous for Words," "El Caminito" and "Say Si, Si." (KNX, 6)

SPEAKING OF OPERA STARS

Brings to mind Grace Moore's formula for keeping fit. Her rules are simple. And there are only two:

She never takes strenuous exercise. She never neglects moderate exercise.

And that's all there is to it. Every morning she takes her "daily dozen" which consists of mild calisthenics. She walks for an hour during the day. She believes that to sing well a singer must feel that way. Her simple routine accomplishes the desired results.

Are ya listenin', ladies?

SHAVIAN MOCKERY PUNCTUATED by Strauss' delightful music make up "The Chocolate Soldier," Jessica Dragonette's operetta offering tonight.

Charles Kullmann, tenor, will sing the male lead.

This ever-popular musical, based on George Bernard Shaw's satire, "Arms and the Man," was written more than thirty years ago. Such songs hits as "My Hero," "That Would Be Lovely" and "Sympathy" are from its score. Al Goodman's orchestra lends support. (KNX, 630)

BOTH MUTUAL AND NBC WILL carry the Pan-American Day Concert from Washington, D. C. However, there seems to be a difference between the two as to the starting time.

KHJ lists 7 o'clock; KFSD, 7:15. And both are half hour releases.

Cordell Hull, secretary of state, is the principal speaker. Music will be furnished by the United States Service orchestra with solos by Bidu Sayao, Brazilian member of the Metropolitan Opera Co.

If you're interested, we suggest KHJ as the station to dial.

New Petition Is Placed In Race

Only one more petition has been taken out for Dona of the 10th annual Fiesta at Santa Ana Junior college. Henrietta Rurup is the candidate.

Five other petitions have been taken out for Don and Dona and are now being circulated among students on the campus. Nominations will be made Friday, with primary election next Wednesday. Finals will be conducted the following Friday.

Lola Mae Stockton and Margaret Crowell are the other women candidates. Allen Titenor, Paul Christ, and Paul Martin are running for Don.

Each year a Don and Dona are selected by popular vote of the Associated Students. The two selected serve as king and queen of the Fiesta during the day.

Last year John Ramirez and Lois Murray acted as Don and Dona.

CHARTING—the STARS

JOHN NESBITT

Guides Caravan

Of Facts

And Features

BORN IN BRITISH COLUMBIA TWENTY-five years ago of a father who was a well-known lecturer and a mother who was a daughter of Edwin Booth, the tall blond chap whose distinctive voice paints the color of his programs started his professional career at the age of 5. Wandering away from the hotel where he was living with his family, in Boston, John was lost for six hours. He had strolled unconcerned into the St. James Theater and when asked if he was one of the children in the cast had gravely affirmed the fact.

Nesbitt's formal education was received in several preparatory schools, St. Mary's college and the University of California. But the real influence was his environment. Reared partially in France he was more familiar with its language than his own native tongue until he was 10. His father left the Intelligence service to lecture on world topics, and it was not until the elder Nesbitt became a Unitarian minister that the family settled long in one place—Alameda, Calif.

Shortly after he left the university Nesbitt followed the call of the Booth blood in his veins; worked in dramatic stock in the northwest. Then he entered the newspaper business. He turned to radio in 1930 and has been on the air in Passing Parade and other air shows, since that time.

Nesbitt admits he's an anomaly. Despite his flair for showmanship on the air he likes to keep his personal life to himself.

He collects books, particularly those of Elizabethan drama; enjoys theaters, night clubs, dancing and broadcasting. Believes mink fright is a necessity for good work and looks forward to retiring one day and becoming a country squire who will "ride horses, read, visit his grandchildren and write letters to the newspapers."

CALLING all DOGS

By Albert Payson Terhune

By Brownson

RABIES, AGAIN

I am taken to task, very courteously but very firmly, in print, by Dr. R. L. Carlton, Public Health Officer of Winston-Salem, N. C., for the advice I gave you for the treatment of dog bites. A few months ago. You will recall I said the best treatment was to suck the wound thoroughly, then wash it out in lukewarm (not hot) water, then to dry it, and then paint it thick with iodine. I added the suggestion that strong carbolic acid solution might be used instead of iodine if there was a reason to believe the dog might be rabid.

Dr. Carlton approves my iodine suggestion; but he thinks carbolic acid or other powerful caustics should be administered only by a physician. Perhaps he is right. Often there is an added feeling of security when one is worked over by a doctor. And absence of worry is a mighty factor for good, in any ailment.

I do not minimize the danger of rabies. It is a dreadful peril, both to man and to beast. But it is one of the rarest of all maladies. Not one supposedly rabid dog in a thousand really has rabies. Remember that in case you are bitten. And in many cases, the bite of a genuinely rabid dog does not infect its victim, though in more cases it does. Strict quarantine has wiped out rabies, completely, in Great Britain.

DUNN'S VETERINARY HOSPITAL IS SOLD

Dr. Mark B. Lindsey has acquired "The Santa Ana Veterinary Hospital" and the practice of the late Dr. Ralph J. Dunn at 1911 South Main street.

Dr. Lindsey comes to Santa Ana after practicing in Los Angeles for two years after extensive work in the field with the United States Bureau of Animal Industry.

He is a graduate of the Colorado State college of Ft. Collins. The Santa Ana veterinary hospital is one of the most modern equipped plants of its kind in Southern California. It has been temporarily closed since the death of Dr. Dunn in December.

"We have everything to work with and can serve the public well. We will specialize in both large and small animal practice," Dr. Lindsey said.

AUTOMOTIVE NEWS

MOTOROLA FOR 1937 IS HELD SENSATIONAL

"Today, while you are driving your car, you may not only choose almost any radio program you desire, but you can also be your own program director, if you own a 1937 Motorola," enthusiastically declares Robt. Harness, resident manager of the Western Auto Supply company, dealers and distributors for the famous car radio.

"One remarkable innovation in auto radio design exclusively developed by Motorola which makes this sensational car radio reception possible is known as the Acoustina-tor.

"This new development embodies two controls, one of which is devoted to overcoming reception difficulties caused by surroundings, while the other affords adjustment of tone to suit the listener's preference for the particular program he is hearing.

"The first," he says, "has three adjustments, one of which reduces to a minimum all interference from street cars and power lines. Another overcomes reception difficulties peculiar to city areas, while the third affords long distance reception, without fading, while on the open highway.

"The other half of the Acoustina-tor makes the listener his own program director, for by just a turn of a switch button he can either emphasize and enrich bass, balance and blend music or brighten a speaker's voice."

Harness hastens to add that despite the remarkable advance the Acoustina-tor gives Motorola tone and reception, it is only one of many innovations that are to be found exclusively in this set. Among these, according to him, are reduction of battery drain to a minimum, tone quality improvement through permanent magnet speakers and patented "Ortho-Acoustic" speaker housing, "Adaptive" broad range antenna system and dials to match every instrument panel.

"These features plus the wide selection that is offered in the five new models and the low prices of each model have made the 1937 Motorola the choice of many local car owners," he concludes. All the new models are now on display at the local store.

The most costly scientific publication, in proportion to its size, was the report of the Wilkes Expedition to the Antarctic, issued by the U. S. government. The whole book was never published, and only 250 sets were printed, at a cost of $279,151.

VISITS HERE

C. P. Hoechlin, assistant division manager of the Gilmore Oil company, who conferred last week with W. W. Craney, local branch manager in Santa Ana.

GILMORE CHIEF ON VISIT HERE

On an extensive tour of this section which involves a series of meetings with the Gilmore personnel in every city, C. P. Hoechlin, assistant division manager of the Gilmore Oil company arrived in Santa Ana during the last week to confer with W. W. Craney, branch manager and other executives of the concern.

While here, Hoechlin will also contact a number of independent dealers to further the new Gilmore merchandising program of providing greater service to motorists.

In a talk to the local Gilmore group, Hoechlin predicted that the Indianapolis 500 mile race next Memorial Day will probably arouse a new high for enthusiasm among motorists because of the growing interest among drivers for the testing of stock petroleum products under grueling conditions.

He said that just recently officials of the Indianapolis race purchased regular stock Gilmore Ethyl gasoline from more than two score dealers in six different cities, sealed it in drums and shipped it to the track. Race rules require that drivers can only use stock gasoline procured in this manner during the 500 mile event.

While in Santa Ana, Hoechlin also discussed with the Gilmore group newspaper advertising plans which his company has made for the spring and summer months.

"SAFE DRIVERS IN SAFE CARS" STATE SLOGAN

SACRAMENTO, April 14.—"Safe drivers in safe cars."

This is the solution of one of California's major problems—highway accidents and deaths—according to Ray Ingels, director of the State Motor Vehicle department, who is sponsoring a more rigid examination of drivers and an official inspection of all cars as a means to this end.

To determine the proper method of examining, Ingels said, during past year the department has purchased machines for the scientific examination of applicants for operators' and chauffeurs' licenses. To provide for safe cars, he is sponsoring official state inspection of all cars semi-annually.

Scope of Tests

"So far the tests we have given on these machines have showed that a large percentage of accidents occur because of physical defects of which the applicants themselves are unaware. This is found particularly in visual defects. We have found many with a restricted field of vision and a surprising number that had defective vision in one eye and did not know of this defect. In checking the accident records of these people we found that invariably they had been involved in collision coming from the side on which their vision was weak."

Ability to determine color, Ingels believes, will prove to be an indication of how strict an examination should be given to individual applicants. "Each accident repeater we have tested with these machines who lacked color perceptibility," he said, "had a restricted field of vision. Each accident in which they had been involved had come from the restricted side. If these tests continue to show this relation, we expect to eventually test all applicants for color blindness, either partial or complete, and to require the strictest of tests for those who fail."

Drivers' Alibis

"A driver who has passed cars with glaring headlights, or has had to guess if the one light approaching at night was a one-eyed car or a motorcycle, knows how potentially dangerous these defective cars can be. Those who have heard drivers, responsible for accidents, say, 'My brakes wouldn't hold,' need no argument to convince them of the need of official inspection."

"Eliminate the unsafe driver and the unsafe car and the accident situation will solve itself."

OLDSMOBILE, SPIRIT OF YOUTH

Spring—The zest of a new air, the temptation of an open highway, and this smart new Oldsmobile Six Convertible Coupe, a rakish roadster open to the sun or a weathertight closed car for April showers. It is a spirited, youthful car, this Oldsmobile Six. So is its companion, the 1937 Oldsmobile Eight.

GLARING HEAD LIGHTS HELD REAL MENACE

Glaring headlights, night driving's most costly and annoying menace, should be reduced from 75 to 90 per cent within six months after official inspection of all motor vehicles by the state becomes effective, according to Ray Ingels, director of the State Motor Vehicle department.

Recent tests by the Sacramento Safety Council, where 2803 cars were tested, showed that approximately 54 per cent had faulty lights, Ingels explained, and added that this percentage was backed up by tests made by the California Highway Patrol for many years.

"Official inspection of all cars twice a year by the state," Director Ingels said, "would correct from 75 to 90 per cent of these faulty lights, and those who drive at night would be able to do so with much less annoyance and with a far greater degree of safety."

PEP BOYS' WORKERS GET WAGE BOOSTS

Affecting more than 100 workers, salary raises of 10 to 15 per cent have been awarded to every employee of The Pep Boys of California, automobile accessory firm, according to an announcement made by Murray Rosenfeld, general manager of the organization. Consistently growing increases in business brought about the raises, Rosenfeld said.

Executives were not included in the general salary advance, but will receive periodical bonuses. The address of the local Pep Boys store is 211 N. Main St.

CARE OF TIRES STRESSED BY LOCAL DEALER

If every motorist took proper care of his tires, the nation's tire bill would be about 25 per cent lower, and driving would be a lot safer, is the contention of Hubert L. Bown, manager Goodrich Silvertown store, First and Broadway, Santa Ana.

Mr. Bown's statement is in part as follows:

"While engineers are striving to improve the protective and service properties of the rubber in on which the motoring world rides, they are suggesting that it is really the driver who can do the most improving, simply by exercising a moderate amount of care and common sense.

"Inspect your tires regularly. Remove any stones that are imbedded between tread projections. Dig out pieces of glass, nails and tacks sticking in the tires. Some drivers argue that nails should be left in. This is not true, however, for a nail conducts heat to the interior of a tire, causing breakdown of rubber and loosening of the fabric cords. True, the tire may go flat when you extract the nail, because of a punctured tube, but that is much safer than having it blow out at a mile a minute, which it is likely to do if the nail is left in.

Motorists should not forget that minor holes seal themselves when the obstruction is removed.

"Few are aware that a tire on the wheel will wear out quicker than the one in service. This may not sound right, but it is a fact, for rubber has the peculiar quality of aging more rapidly when idle than when in use. Therefore, about every 5000 miles change your tires about so that the spare gets a workout, and so that the tires get a chance to operate in different positions. A system frequently followed is to move the tires, including the spares, one step around the car in either direction at regular intervals. Tires should also be removed from the rims every six months and changed so that the side that formerly was in is turned out. Such a change produces even tread wear and prolongs the life more than enough to pay for the effort involved.

"Finally, I believe that tires should be discarded when they have worn bald-headed or when they are otherwise so worn or damaged as to be unsafe. Tires with no tread, particularly if on the rear wheels, may contribute to disastrous skidding in case of a blow-out or under normal, wet weather or winter operative conditions. One who cannot afford reliable and safe tires does not belong on the road. When a tire is new, you have scarcely an inch of rubber, between you and eternity. As the miles roll by this inch grows less, until eventually you may be entrusting your life to tires almost as thin as paper, and from which all the safety the tire engineers built into them has been lost."

FORD PREDICTS HIGHEST SALES IN ALL HISTORY

Although Ford officials predicted sales of the new 1937 V-8 sixties would have wide public acceptance, even the most optimistic estimates were too low. Now it is believed that 1937 will be the greatest year in Ford history.

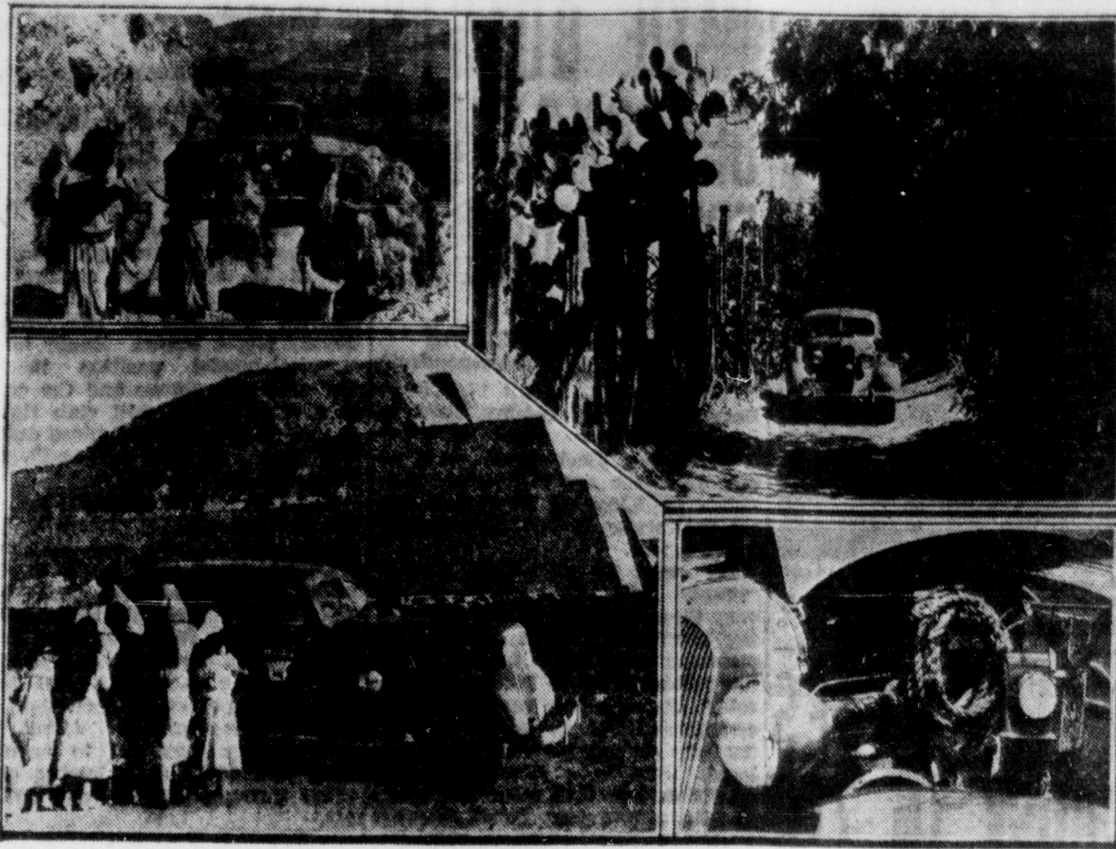

For the months of January and February, in the Long Beach Ford branch which takes in practically all of Southern California and Arizona, Ford sales totaled about 19 per cent of all cars sold.

"The extremely gratifying public response to the lighter Ford is a tribute to our engineers who developed this car to attain maximum economy in operation, and it is one of the reasons for our increased sales this year," said George Dunton, Santa Ana branch manager of the Ford Motor Company.

Chevrolet Road Scout in Mexico

Here are a few of the fascinating scenes visited by James McClure and his Chevrolet during his current survey of roads in the Mexican Republic. Cactus-fenced lanes, bordered with feathery pepper trees, are a common sight in central Mexico. The pyramid is that of Teauyaca, an interesting landmark of Aztec civilization. The view under the hood of Mr. McClure's Chevrolet shows how he stores 17 pieces of survey equipment, including toolbox, ax, and a complete cooking set. The use of the space around the engine has not affected the cooling qualities of the car, he reports.

CHEVROLET'S ROAD SCOUT ON MEXICAN TRIP

Old Mexico's faded life of leisure and pastoral quiet is being steadily converted into a scene of swifter tempo by the modern motor car, according to the latest information received from James McClure, Chevrolet's road scout who is now penetrating the innermost fastnesses of the Mexican republic. The observer's car is a stock-model Chevrolet panel delivery.

"More and better roads" is the cry of the Mexican statesmen, according to McClure. These leaders look to motor cars and trucks as the best instruments to accelerate development of natural resources. They have agreed that highways are first in the program.

Mexico, the observer advises, has made tremendous strides in road building during the past few years. It is now possible to drive at high speed from Texas to Mexico City, over one of the finest highways on the North American continent. Numerous high-speed lateral roads fan out from the center of Mexico City, reaching celebrated scenic spots.

"The American motorist, particularly the resident of adjacent Pacific Coast states, will sooner or later come to the realization that a virgin land of beauty and vacation pleasure awaits below the Rio Grande," Mr. McClure stated. "The high officials of Mexico are also demonstrating a willingness to cooperate to the limit to attract American motorists. Only the deterrent of 'habit' keeps thousands of American motorists from enjoying the thrill that is Mexico. They should not regard a drive into Mexico as a piece of high adventure. On the contrary, they should look upon the trip for what it is—simply an easy journey into a new country, with practically all of the motoring comforts they would find anywhere in the United States."

McClure is remembered as the "honeymooning reporter" who with his bride drove his Chevrolet into Mexico last year. The McClures have enjoyed Mexico so much that they have decided to continue the scouting trip for another year.

The PAYOFF

BY RICHARD MCCANN
(NEA Service Staff Writer)

It was more with distrust than with distaste that we read reports of the St. Louis Gas House Gang brawling with a couple of sports writers the other day in Tampa.

You see, there's only one thing worse than a ball player or a sports writer fighting, and that's a sports writer AND a ball player fighting.

Not even the New York boxing commission would tolerate such a match. For athletes, ball players are dippy-do fighters; and for boxers, the sports writers are even dippier-do. It is my advice that the sports writers confine their punching to the letter "T" on the typewriter, while the ball players should confine their hitting to the ball field.

DOOMED TO DEFEAT

With the exception of such gentlemen as George Selkirk and Babe Ruth, the New York Yankees, who used to be boxers, and Ty Cobb, who was just naturally fired with ferocity, ball players are always coming off second best in tussles with citizens—that is, citizens other than sports writers.

Take, for instance, the pugna-tious Mr. Jerome Dean. Didn't Mr. Dean get punched around the sidewalks of Hot Springs last year by a scrawny 135-pound taxicab driver?

And then, too, didn't a certain Washington player, since traded, get a broken finger and a shoulder swelled in a scrap with a high school boy in an Orlando night club last spring?

And how about that Boston Red Soxer, also since traded, who got his nose punched into a pulp by a counterman in an all-night lunch room in Washington two summers ago?

FIGHTS OF FEINTS

Now and then, enraged in the heat of battle, ball players get into scuffles among themselves. But they never do enough damage to stir up a pacified movement. Those ball field and under-the-stands battles are, like Dean, full of sound, but very little fury.

Most of the battles consist of several score poorly chosen curse words and two missed punches. Then the feinting combatants' teammates step in and the two "batters" are only too glad to be separated, despite a rather showy "lemme-at-im" display of vigor.

The average ball player, you see, is smart enough to know that he takes too much of a risk with his bread-winning arms and legs and eyes in a fight and this realization always bubbles up to the surface in time to calm hot tempers at the boiling point.

Proof of this is the fact that you never hear of a ball player, who of an afternoon has been restrained from murder, or, at least, a bit of mayhem, going out that night to the enemy's home and thereby dueling him unto death.

BATTILING ARBITER

Although, come to think of it, an umpire, now employed in the National league, did that once. He was officiating in the International league at the time when a pitcher and catcher started working on him.

Shackled by the dignity of his job, the umpire couldn't punch his way out of the shower of insults they sprayed on him right there on the field, so he challenged them to meet him after the game. They said sure, sure, out on the parking lot. But, after the game, they weren't to be found near the stadium. So the umpire went a-hunting and found them in their hotel room.

He locked himself in with them for five minutes or so and then very considerably called the nearest hospital to send a couple of guys over to scrape them up off the carpet. They tell me that the two fellows never played ball again.

TUNNEY WAS RIGHT

Perhaps the most clean-cut battling ever staged on the ball field was committed by the New York Yankees and the Washington Nationals in a feud that lasted two seasons.

Bill Dickey started it off in 1932 by breaking Carl Reynolds' jaw with one punch after being sent sprawling by Reynolds' clumsy, spike-flashing slide home. Then, after a few minor incidents, the feud flared into a riot with Ben Chapman tussling with Buddy Myer and Earl Whitehill in a double battle that ended with all the boys rumpling around on the field until quieted by the gendarmes and the realization that all this was getting them nowhere, except into Judge Landis' office for a fine or two.

There is no doubt but that Wes Ferrell and Gene Tunney have the right idea. When Ferrell gets mad he seeks the privacy of the dugout and there punches himself on the jaw. And Tunney, when two writers start perched while interviewing him and started to muss one another up, stepped in and said, "Boys, boys, this is foolish—when you fight, fight for money."

NESTELL STOPS RAMAGE IN 10; PASTOR NEXT?

LOS ANGELES, April 14.—Bob Nestell, a former coward who admits he is fighting for money and nothing else, kept his knockout string intact last night when he stopped Lee Ramage of San Diego with just 20 seconds remaining in the 10 round bout.

For Nestell it was the 11th straight knockout. His manager, Gus Wilson, said he probably would accept a bout with Bob Pastor of Philadelphia, to be held as semi-windup to the Jim Braddock-Louis championship contest in Chicago. Nestell weighed 190½; Ramage 190.

The blonde Los Angeles boxer found Ramage a surprisingly improved fighter for nine rounds, but chopped him down three times in the tenth before Referee George Blake stopped the bout. Ramage, a reconditioned lightweight attempting a comeback after being retired by Joe Louis a year ago, was knocked down twice for nine counts and lay helpless on the floor the third time when Blake raised Nestell's hand.

CHARGE PROPAGANDA TO RACE OFFICIALS

Santa Ana Loses Rugby Game With British Columbia

Santa Barbara got the University of British Columbia rugby game instead of Santa Ana Jaycee when they were able to outbid the local representatives, Coach Ernest Butterworth and Captain Fred Pinkston, at the Southern California rugby union's meeting last night in Los Angeles.

Coach Butterworth was selected by the union to head a committee for selecting an all-star team to meet the British Columbia champions in Long Beach in May. Several Dons are sure to be selected on this all-star lineup, Butterworth said.

TWO BANKING CLUBS QUIT CITY LEAGUE

Facing the probability of a six instead of an eight-team race, managers of Santa Ana City league softball clubs meet at 7:30 tomorrow night in the offices of City Auditor Lloyd Banks in the city hall to discuss new problems and set a starting date.

According to President Kenneth Morrison, the First National and Commercial National banks will not be represented in the circuit this summer.

Forty-three Santa Ana Jaycee footballers reported for the first spring practice drill at Poly field yesterday with Coach Bill Cook getting right down to business of running plays and dummy scrimmage.

Several promising prospects from neighboring high schools were not among the turnout. Among these were Jerry Nesmith, former Anaheim center; Les Monell, former Grove Hallback; Bill Milligan, James Webb and Hal Tucker, out from Santa Ana high.

TELL SCHEDULE FOR CALIENTE REOPENING

SAN DIEGO, April 14.—Nine events with a top purse of $1500 for the Inaugural Handicap, will mark the re-opening of the famed Agua Caliente Turf Club May 8, after a lapse of two years, it was announced today.

During the first six days of racing at the track below the Mexican border, purses totalling $32,600 will be distributed among winners, according to Judge Ben Holmes, racing secretary for the Gene Normile plant.

Sunday, the second day of the meet, will see a 10-race card, with a $1200 handicap as tops. On the opening day, in addition to the inaugural handicap, there will be 5 races with purses of $500 each; two with $600 and one with $800. The Sunday card will see six events at $500; two at $600; one at $800 and then the handicap.

The fourth of July Handicap, with $5000 added, will be the high spot of the meeting, although the Memorial Day Handicap will carry a $2500 purse.

Holmes, speaking for Normile, said there will be a minimum of eight races on week days with an increased number on Saturday, Sundays and holidays.

COLTON RAKES D'BUSK IN 7TH FOR 5-4 WIN

Raking Ira DeBusk for three runs on five bunched hits in the seventh inning, Colton vanquished Santa Ana's Stars, 5-4, at Colton last night.

It was the second start for the Coates-less Stars who are on the prowl for a pitcher and may have found one in Al Bushman, who turned in a creditable five innings in a starter's role. The onetime Anaheim ace gave up only one run, a home run over the center field wall by Johnston in the second inning.

STARS HERE TUESDAY

Santa Ana's Stars open a two-weeks stand in the Municipal Bowl next Tuesday, having closed today for a game that night with The Dash, a strong Long Beach City league outfit. Games will follow here Fridays and Tuesdays with Riverside, Colton and Ontario.

Santa Ana officials go to Colton tonight for a meeting of the Southern California association which is expected to elect a successor to President "Gavy" Cravath. John Wilcox of Santa Ana and Hubert Finlay of Colton are the candidates. Matt Gallagher of The Examiner tournament will be on deck and the association is going to ask him for its teams admission this year.

Stone's single and Shoap's double. The Reds moved ahead in the seventh on Mashburn's double, Smith's single, Emery's single, Jack Stone's single and John Stone's double.

Santa Ana made all its runs off Thornton, first of three Colton slingers. Manager Ray Smith ordered the game with a single. Randolph Bell singled and Preble sacrificed. Then Bob Mott followed with a screaming triple to left to score Smith and Bell.

Mott blasted another long three-bagger in the third, tallying when Koral slapped a single through short.

The Stars were through after the fourth in which Levens singled and came around on Bushman's sacrifice, and Bell's single.

The Stars play on Ontario Friday night. . . Herb Bowe, one of the youngsters counted on by Manager Smith, leaves for Red Bluff Friday. . . Smith thinks there may be something doing on the Bell deal in a day or two. The player now belongs to Westminster. Bell got four hits at Colton.

OILERS BLANK ONTARIO

Huntington Beach shut out Ontario, 4-0, at Huntington Beach last night in a game notable for the fact that "Chico" Sabella pitched part of the way for the champions.

While still American league property, Huntington Beach is trying to get the veteran waived out of that division to help a mound staff already straining with Errington and George Eckenroth, a newcomer who has allowed only two hits in 10 innings while fanning 15. He started against Ontario, walking three but allowing no hits in three rounds.

MAXIE BOASTS OF CONDITION FOR LONDON GO

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 14.—Maxie Baer fights one Tommy Farr in London tomorrow night so today Maxie's Fleet street scout to nip off to the Ace of Spades roadhouse in Kingston Surrey, where the Californian is training and send me a report.

My scout reported that Max is "simply livid with rage" at the very thought of the New York boxing commission, and called its members something that sounded like "screwballs" to his ears. "Baer said," the dispatch ran, "that the commission had no business making fifth inning time in a simply frightful condition, and then allow Braddock to take a two-year layoff because he had neuritis, or some silly disease, in his little finger."

The scout—over his fourth glass of ale, no doubt—asked Baer what condition he was in, and got this answer:

Baer Still Boastful

"I am in the best condition of my life. Even better than I was years ago when I first came to New York and was so tough I could take the dressing room by butting steam pipes with my head. I could take on Louis and Braddock in the same week and knock them out."

"There's no place like the English countryside. I have been up every morning at six and in bed every night at ten. I haven't seen a bright light or a gal for a month."

It sounded so preposterous—especially that he called the scout to lay off the stout and ale and give me the facts. He came back with a cable saying it was the truth, and that he wasn't drinking either stout or ale, gin and tonic.

To prove he had his complete wits about him—rawther!—he quoted Trainer Izzy Klein.

"I agreed to train Maxie for Farr only on the condition that he really trained," Klein told the scout, "and he would, and he's kept his word. He's down to 208, hard as a floor, and been as peaceful as a boy scout. He'll murder this Farr thing."

Farr is Terrible

Members of the English fancy seem to agree with Klein about Baer murdering Farr, because the only bets made are those dealing with what round Farr will take the count. Most of the critics believe Farr will be removed first before the fifth round. So do I, because I saw Farr fight last fall, and he is terrible. He was a stance that reminds you of one of those old sporting prints, and he couldn't knock his way out of a greenhouse with a foot of lead pipe in each hand.

Farr, however, if my scout is to be trusted, has placed a sizeable bet on himself to flatten Baer. What he plans to use, I don't know, but certainly not his fists. Farr couldn't knock out Jack Petersen, and when you can't knock out Petersen it's time to take up golf.

If Baer beats Farr he will engage Walter Neusel late in May. After that he is tentatively booked to meet Louis at the Harringay dog track in July. If I were you, however, I wouldn't book my passage for that one quite yet.

RUEDY'S RETURN RECALLS SANTA ANA-ANAHEIM RIOT

Out of Anaheim comes a tip that Vic Ruedy is to be drafted to manage Anaheim's ball team in the National Night league.

He had the job through the season of '35, spent last summer in comparative retirement as a non-salaried president of the Orange County Night league. Ruedy holds a semi-official position in the Anaheim city plunge and the commissioners of the ball club figure he can be spared from those duties two nights a week to handle the Valencia on the field.

Ruedy's return reminds me of the famous riot at Anaheim between Santa Ana and Anaheim players. That was back in '32, when those cities both took their softball more seriously than now.

Ruedy was managing the Anaheim entry, and George Lackaye was bossing the Stars and they decided to put on a mock fight to stir up some interest. About the fifth inning they got to arguing back and forth and shoving each other around, being careful not to hit.

But the players of the two teams, thinking the affair was on the level, barged into action with real zest so that Ruedy and Lackaye were glad to change their act to that of peacemakers.

Francis Lemon was catching for Anaheim, and he and "Memphy" Hill, then Santa Ana's shortstop, really cracked each other a few times before things got serious. Lemon's daddy was in the jam he dashed across the playing field and took a poke at "Rosy" Merrill, who was trying to help Hill. By that time the thing was clear out of hand, and hot headed fans were streaming on the diamond looking for trouble.

Anaheim's police chief, Jim Bouldin, pulled a "billy" on Bill Cole and somebody grabbed George Lackaye and nearly choked the life out of him up against the screen. Miniature riots broke out over the place; it must have been 30 minutes before things were quieted.

Lackaye and Ruedy vowed then and there never to start another phony fight.

Germans Still Think They Won Their Olympic Games

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 14.—For nearly a month a German newspaper has been lying on my desk. It is, if you please, the "Neuruppiner Lokalanzeiger."

I had studied it dutifully but without success, the only word I could translate being "Olympisch." Fortunately there arrived in this town Herr Edward Beattie, who since leaving Yale in 1931 has been in the United Press Berlin office.

Five minutes after Herr Beattie had goose-stepped into the office, I had him translating the sports page of the "Neuruppiner Lokalanzeiger." It was jammed or to use the correct phraseology, "augestopft," with Germany's hopes for the 1940 Olympic Games in Tokyo.

Herr Beattie had to translate no more than five paragraphs to me before I came to the startling realization that Germany is convinced down to the last swastika, that it won the 1936 Olympics. And I suppose it did.

One article was a recapitulation of the Olympic score, and pistol-shooting was there in just as big type as the 100 meter dash. So was the double collapsible—convertible, too—canoe. So was the under-water-swim-without-clothespin-what-ever that might be.

Now, I am not arguing against the Germans placing these events, which they won, on a par with the others, which they lost. All of them were on the Olympic program, and if you can't get by with

LATHROP 'CEES' END SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Coach L. W. Archer's Lathrop junior high class C track team ended a successful season yesterday by trouncing the Laguna Beach high school "C" squad, 72 to 5, at Lathrop field. The Lathrop "Cees" lost only one meet this season which was to Garden Grove high school.

Lathrop's two-man "B" team went under 3 to 74 to the Laguna "B" team. Burnett made a point in the hundred and broad jump and Brown got a third in the shot put. Summary:

SPEAKER TELLS OF MANKIND IN KIWANIS TALK

By JOHN NEUBAUER

Dr. Lewis A. Aleson of Los Angeles, cited the evils of social medicine at today's luncheon meeting of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club in the Masonic Temple.

Dr. Aleson traced the development of mankind through the ages from his origin six or eight million years ago. He declared the principal law of nature was individualism.

"Two basic instincts control mankind," Dr. Aleson stated. "The hunger instinct is for the preservation of the individual and the other, the sex instinct, is for the preservation of the race."

Cost of Medicine

He pointed out that the cost of medicine was not too high. The average cost of an American family for medicine is from $22 to $25 per year. This same family pays $165 annually for its automobile.

In showing the evils of socialized or state medicine, Dr. Aleson cited the cases of Germany and England, where compulsory health insurance has been in effect for some time.

In Germany the patient and the doctor are almost antagonists in a case where the closest harmony should exist.

Dr. Aleson pointed out that there are bills in most every state legislature that provide for state or socialized medicine to a certain degree.

Individual Important

Some of the bills have some merit, but in most instances they would prove detrimental to the medical practice.

"The individual is the most important factor in any social system," the speaker asserted, "and the doctor's responsibility should be directly to the individual rather than to some bureau."

Through modern medicine the mortality rate has been reduced considerably. Scientific study has made it possible to cure many diseases that plagued mankind.

Dr. Aleson intimated that through such social practice, it would easily be possible for medicine to slip back into a period of "dark ages" where all scientific knowledge would dwindle.

Dr. Harry Huffman, past president of the club, was the program chairman and introduced the speaker.

One-Time Orange Resident Fetes Local Motorists

Jack Price, former Orange resident and now a prominent member of the Orange county week-end visitors who trekked into Death Valley and to Boulder Dam by automobile.

Leaving Friday morning, the Orange county men, Charley Tulene, Santa Ana justice court clerk; Max Boethlin, Orange postal clerk; and Jack Huber, Orange rancher, landed in Baker about 6 p. m., spending the night there. On Saturday, they visited Furnace Creek Inn, Dante's Point and other valley spots before going to Las Vegas.

Price has a fine store and is prospering. Tulene said today, "He is planning to build at new home soon."

TITANIC SURVIVOR HITS ACCUSATION

KENSINGTON, Conn., April 14.—(UP)—A survivor of the Titanic, which sank 25 years ago tonight with a loss of 1513 lives, branded today as a "brutal injustice" an accusation which has pursued some of the rescued men—that they gained the safety of the lifeboats by wearing women's clothing.

"The brutal injustice of this accusation, along with further misconceptions and distortion of facts concerning the wreck, stand out even more strongly in my mind than the actual horror of the disaster," declared William T. Sloper, wealthy broker.

"All lifeboats were marked for 66 occupants. Yet ours was lowered and sent away with three sailors and 16 of us passengers, because persons were so hesitant in getting in. I saw another lifeboat with only 12 people in it."

"Later, when it was definitely known the ship was sinking, I understand that only women and children were allowed to leave, but even then I can't see how any man could have gotten away in women's clothes because the deck was as bright as day with the floodlights blazing away, and it would be easy to discover such a deception."

Court Notes

The late Mrs. Etta G. Crabtree, who died in Santa Ana March 27, left a $19,200 estate in trust for her three grandchildren, William, Jesse Jr. and Harriet George, children of J. A. George, of the Federal Finance company, it was shown when her will was filed for probate in superior court yesterday. The trust terminates when the youngest child reaches her majority. The estate consists of San Diego real estate valued at $11,800, stocks and securities valued at $7600.

The will of the late Martha De Graaf, of Orange, has been filed for probate in superior court by her former sister-in-law, Katherine Clark, of Bakersfield, whose petition states that her own two children, Geraldine and Rodney De Graaf, are heirs under the will, to the $4200 cash estate. The will named Lambert De Graaf, brother of the deceased and former husband of Mrs. Clark, as sole heir. He had, however, preceded his sister, leaving his two children as his heirs. They reside in Bakersfield with their mother.

Mrs. Willemto Schenk, widow of the late John Schenk, who left a $1200 estate consisting of three lots at Huntington Beach, has petitioned superior court to set aside the estate to her, as widow, or to grant her letters of administration.

Arvonne Cox, aged 2½, asks $5000 damages, and her father, Harland G. Cox, wants $435, in a damage suit filed yesterday in superior court against Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Fly, whose car struck the child last January 23 on the Coast highway near Third street, South Laguna. A skull fracture and a broken left leg were among the injuries listed.

AUTOS DAMAGED

Cars operated by Louise Leichtfuss, 287 Maplewood, Orange, and John A. Cass, 915 North Baker, Santa Ana, were damaged today when they collided at Palm and Waverly streets, Orange. The drivers escaped injury.

CHARGE HURLED IN MURDER CASE

Testimony that Concepcion Vieyra, on trial charged with the murder of Marcus J. Reza at Stanton last February, had lined up a group of Mexicans, including Reza, a few days before the killing and had then threatened to kill them all, was given by prosecution witnesses today in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court.

Felix Munoz, Francisco Acedes and Cayetana Azevedo were the witnesses summoned by Prosecutor James L. Davis, and who told of being threatened by the defendant, who, they said, brandished a large automatic pistol, similar to the weapon he is accused of using to kill Reza later.

At completion of their testimony, Defense Attorney W. M. Burke moved the court to strike out all of their testimony from the records as being immaterial, but the motion was denied.

COTTON MEN URGED TO SELL HOLDINGS

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(UP)—The Agricultural Adjustment administration today urged farmers who have cotton loans outstanding with the Commodity Credit corporation to sell their holdings immediately.

Cully A. Cobb, southern division AAA director, said the object of the marketing program is to make available to the trade cotton which will supply current requirements, both domestic and export.

"Farmers who have borrowed 12 cents a pound on their cotton from the Commodity Credit corporation, now have an opportunity to liquidate their loans and at the same time to realize a small sum, about $1.25 a bale on the average, on the transaction," Cobb said.

BACK RESOLUTION ON SALARY LISTS

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(UP)—The house ways and means committee today favorably reported a resolution repealing publicity of corporation salary lists of individuals making more than $15,000 a year.

No record vote was taken on reporting the repealer. Chairman Robert L. Doughton said. The resolution probably will be brought up in the house for action within a few days, he added.

The 1926 tax act provision requiring the treasury to submit to congress the names and salaries of more than 30,000 individuals has been the subject of extended controversy. Charges have been made that it was used as "a sucker list" by various soliciting firms.

HAWKS DAMAGES PLANE IN LANDING

NEW YORK, April 14.—(UP)—Frank M. Hawks cracked up his new plane, "Time Flies," last night when he made a high speed landing at Newark airport, after completing a three cornered flight from Hartford to Miami to New York. The plane, which Hawks said represented an expenditure of $140,000, made a faulty dive to land at 80 miles per hour and bounced high. When it stopped the right wing hung limp.

Police News

Thieves escaped with the "fish-pole" radio antenna which was on a car registered to Marie Silva, 1628 Ocean Front, Newport Beach, she reported to Santa Ana police last night. The car had been parked here from 8 until 11:15 p. m.

William McGinnis, 61, Costa Mesa, and Roy Coyle, 37, 715 East Chestnut, Santa Ana, were jailed by Officers George Boyd, L. H. Nicholson and Chet Gross yesterday afternoon, after being arrested at Pine and Halladay streets, on charges of begging on the streets while intoxicated and vagrancy.

His $36 bicycle, black, green and white, stolen yesterday afternoon from a rack at Jefferson school, John Wright, 2224 Greenleaf, sought aid of city police.

It's one thing to park overtime when avoidance is possible and another thing to park overtime when one's car is "busted," city police explained yesterday. Called to West Eighth between Western and Artesia last night, they found a car belonging to M. C. Beck, 115 East Fourth, with axle broken. The car had been there two nights. Officers also were called to investigate overtime parking in the 1200-block of South Ross; they found the car of S. B. Johnstone, 1233 South Ross. It had been there for three days, disabled. In each case, owners agreed to move the cars as soon as possible.

TABOR ACCUSED IN ARSON CASE

John Rose, who served a term in San Quentin for the crime of arson, for which E. R. Tabor now is on trial, testified today for the prosecution in an effort to show that Tabor had instigated the plot to burn the Tabor apartment house at Huntington Beach.

Rose had made such a charge in a letter to the district attorney, written from San Quentin after he and Henry Eli were convicted. Tabor, he alleged, had promised to protect them and employ counsel for their defense, but had double-crossed them.

When Rose was called to the stand today, Defense Counsel Milburn G. Harvey and Donald Harwood launched an objection to the testimony. Superior Judge G. K. Scovel dismissed the jury while the point was being argued.

Picnics and Reunions

The annual spring picnic reunion for the Illinoisans will be held all day Saturday, April 17 in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles. Each one of the counties will open headquarters and registers for enrollment. The program of music and addresses will follow the basket dinner hour. Hon. Lin Price, formerly of Chicago and Judge Charles B. MacCoy will be the speakers.

$5000 Suit Is Crash Result

Clara McMillan asked $5000 damages, and her motoring companion, Lorea Ryan, sued for $685.83, in a superior court action on file today against D. H. Westmoreland, former county sanitary inspector, of Huntington Beach.

The suit was based on a traffic crash of the Ryan and Westmoreland cars at Los Angeles street and Broadway, Anaheim, last February 9.

INDICT ACTORS ON COPYRIGHT CHARGE

LOS ANGELES, April 14.—(UP)—Groucho and Chico Marx, of the Marx brothers film company team, were indicted today by a federal grand jury on charges of violating copyright laws.

The indictment was based on charges by Carroll and Garrett Graham that the Marx brothers had stolen their story, "The Hollywood Adventures of Mr. Dibble and Mr. Dabble" and used it for a radio script.

FACES BATTERY CHARGE

Arrested on a warrant issued by City Judge L. F. Coburn of Orange and served by Anaheim police, Philip Adams, 817 North Janss, Anaheim, was haled into the Orange court this morning on a battery complaint. Adams pleaded not guilty. Trial was set for 10 a. m. tomorrow.

WORK DELAYED BY NEW PWA POLICY

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(UP)—Construction of $163,737,000 worth of public works projects in 503 communities which have already voted bond issues to assist in financing depended today on whether President Roosevelt enforces his new PWA policy.

Final approval is withheld by a policy under which PWA grants hereafter are to be available only to cover wages of relief labor employed in construction.

Outright grants totaling $46,361,477 have been designated for the projects. The amount is approximately one-third of that in PWA's revolving fund which President Roosevelt says may be allotted under the new policy. An additional $4,136,000 has been marked for loans on the pending projects. The president announced his opposition to further expenditure of federal funds for purchase of durable goods used in heavy construction for fear it would accelerate the price rise in that branch of industry with consequent decrease in consumption.

TWO ARRESTED

Arrested last night on bench warrants charging they failed to appear in court at the prescribed time, B. N. James, 45, 1006 Kilson drive, Santa Ana, and Rudolph Seibillo, 19, 1220 East Second, Santa Ana, were ordered to furnish $5 bail to City Judge J. G. Mitchell, to guarantee later court appearances.

Man Asks Court To Check Firm

George Fenimore today had sued his partners, Everett J. Kleinman and Albert R. Yorba, for dissolution of a Brea partnership formed to exploit timber burls, also an accounting of assets and appointment of a receiver.

Fenimore alleged that one of the partners, Kleinman, had jeopardized the business when he "became insolvent" and that both partners had taken possession of the books and records and refused access to him.

The partnership, he stated, was formed last February 23, and had put $200,000 worth of raw timber land under lease, for the purpose of extracting burls.

CROSSROAD COMMODITIES DISTRIBUTION

Approval of a WPA project for commodities distribution in Orange County, sponsored by the Surplus Commodities Corporation, a branch of SRA, was given by the county supervisors late yesterday, the step involving a contribution of $125 per month by the county toward the project.

The new project supplants the old SRA commodities distribution, and will save the county money, it is estimated. It has been costing about $163 per month for the county's contributions to wages, equipment and overhead for such distribution.

Reject Bill
A demand of the Newbert Protection district for $375, for dredging along the Santa Ana river above Ocean avenue, between February 7 and 27, was rejected by the supervisors. The work, done following the February storms was for the protection of the Newbert district, rather than the county, and was not ordered by the county, the supervisors held. The board delegated Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson to deliver the bid.

Want Life Guard
Request from the Laguna Beach Red Cross chapter for a life guard to be stationed at Terry Beach, south of the Laguna Beach limits, brought no action from the supervisors, who felt averse to setting a precedent, they indicated.

Harbor Fund Approved
A belated letter from Congressman Harry Sheppard advised the board, under date of April 2, that the proposal for a $15,000 annual maintenance fund for Newport harbor, had been approved by the Rivers and Harbors committee of the house, and would go to the house "next week."

News dispatches from other sources more recently had announced passage of the bill by the house.

CROSBY FILM IS HELD OVER

The hit trio of "Rhythm On the Range," Bing Crosby, Bob Burns and Martha Raye, added and abetted by Shirley Ross and a supporting cast of 250 dancers, musicians and specialty performers, will be seen on the Broadway screen for one extra day, tomorrow and tomorrow night in "Walkie Wedding."

"Walkie Wedding" is a gay and robust comedy, garnished with splendid music, both instrumental and vocal, of the romance between a clever publicity agent and a contest winner, played respectively by Crosby and Miss Ross. Miss Ross is the winner in a world wide contest to exploit the product of Crosby's boss. She doesn't find Walkie much to her liking and prepares to leave.

Realizing that this would ruin his campaign, Crosby takes it upon himself to make the place glamorous. This he does with a vengeance. He falls in love with the contest winner in the process and when she discovers he has tricked her, Crosby has to win her back again.

Some of the hit tunes to be heard are "Blue Hawaii," "Sweet Is the Word for You," "In a Little While Heaven" and "Okolehoo."

J. Edward Bromberg believes a refreshingly new and unusual type of detective to the screen in "Fair Warning," the twin feature on the closing bill. Others in the cast include Victor Kilian, Betty Furness, Billy Burrud and John Howard Payne.

County Walnut Crop Reviewed

Orange county walnut production for 1936 totaled 659,925 bags, according to figures released today by Harold E. Wahlberg, farm advisor.

This report also indicated that Southern California produced 62 per cent and Northern California 28 per cent of the total walnut crop.

The 15 principal walnut growing counties and their production for 1936:

Don't Irritate Gas Bloating

If you want to really GET RID OF GAS and terrible bloating, don't expect to do it by just doctoring your stomach with harsh, irritating alkalies and "gas tablets." Jimmy Fidler in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, April 14.—Idol chatter: Shades of East Tennessee hills: Fourteen-year-old Deanna Durbin has had thirty-two marriage proposals! Basil Rathbone scares me more with his cold smile than with his frown. Peas from the same pod: Francine Lawrence and Wynne Gibson. I would have been heart-broken had Simone Simon pouted or James Stewart wagged his eyebrows in "Seventh Heaven." Wonder if George smiles when jerk-water cafe waiters scream: "Adam and Eve on a raft!" Gary Cooper and Spencer Tracy wear worried brows.

Aside to gossip reporters: When you see a different variety of flowers on Herbert Marshall's Cafe La Maza table every evening, cherchez la femme. It strikes me that Virginia Bruce is almost the last actress to wear her own, non-re-routed eyebrows. Critic's comment I never expect to read: "Victor McLaglen was too soft for the army officer role." So this is life note: Ross Alexander's best screen performance is in the picture he made just before his death.

I suppose the reason Joan Fontaine gets so much "sister of Olivia De Havilland" publicity is the clause in her contract which forbids it. Impressionistic drawing of Marion Davies: A delayed "Gibson Girl" looking for the early nineteenth hundreds. Sylvia Sydney's smile reminds me of laughing through tears. Why does Constance Bennett's beauty seem old-fashioned, and Joan Crawford's so excitedly modern? Maybe Elissa Landi should write herself a good role, she has had so little picture luck of late.

It did my heart good to see a certain egotistical singer taken down a peg the other night by Douglas Fowley, a young actor who is making good as a screen comedian, but got his original training in dramatic roles. It took place in a night club, where a volunteer master of ceremonies asked Doug to sing. He is no Caruso, but he is obliging. He sang "Pennies from Heaven" and did a fair job of it. But the next person called was the egotistical singer, who also delivered "Pennies from Heaven" and made Fowley's rendition sound pretty bad.

The chap's discourtesy got under Doug's chin. He returned to the microphone and delivered an oration from Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar." He did a striking job that stopped the noisy night club audience cold in its tracks. After he finished, Doug waited for the applause to die out, then turned to the conceited singer and cracked, "All right, Mr. Sarah Bernhardt—top that!"

Harold Lloyd got credit, but it was a rival comedian who pulled the line. It was during a Lloyd party—one of those vast Hollywood gatherings that resemble a family reunion of the Joneses or the Smiths. Everybody was goggled over the six drawing rooms, the elevator, the golf course, the swimming pool and the switchboard with almost a hundred connections. It was the rival comedian who stood up in the amphitheater-like dining room and chirped, "It ain't much, folks, but it's home!"

JUNGLE PRINCESS BROUGHT BACK TO WALKER'S TONIGHT

Due to unprecedented demand, "The Jungle Princess," starring Dorothy Lamour, exotic star of screen and radio, supported by Ray Milland, Lynne Overman and Akim Tamiroff, will be brought back to Walker's theater for today only. On the same program, "On the Avenue" will show for the last times tonight.

Milland, as a member of a scientific expedition, remains on a South Sea island when the expedition returns to civilization and falls in love with a native girl, who lives deep in the jungle with a chimpanzee and a tiger as her only companions. Miss Lamour's singing of "Moonlight and Shadows," one of the most popular songs of the day, in her native tongue, and in English, is one of the highlights of a very entertaining picture.

"On the Avenue," Dick Powell's latest starring vehicle, which brings Madeleine Carroll, Alice Faye, George Barbier and the Ritz Brothers together in musical, romantic comedy with a background of six of Irving Berlin's latest song hits, is the companion feature to "The Jungle Princess."

The Morning After Taking Carter's Little Liver Pills

ACTION AND COMEDY AT STATE TONIGHT

Telling a smashing story of men and women in the fast-moving newspaper game, "Woman-Wise" opens at the State theater today with "Let's Make a Million," a film which is bound to strike home with veterans, as well as their kin and friends.

The laugh-provoking tale of a boss who thought he knew all about women, and of a little spitfire who outwitted and outsocked him, enlists Michael Whalen, Rochelle Hudson, Thomas Beck, Alan Dinehart and Douglas Fowley in the featured roles in "Woman-Wise."

Set in the realistic clamor of the news and sports worlds, "Woman-Wise" tells the moving story of a sports writer's crusade to clean up a fixed-fight gang, and how, his pretty newspaper assistant outsmarts them all by using women's wit and men's tactics.

Porter Hall, the screen's most dastardly villain, is up to no good again in "Let's Make a Million," a gay comedy of the bonus. Hall sells oil stock to Edward Everett Horton, the hero of the piece, who is out to marry Charlotte Wynters with the money. But the villain gets it in the neck when everything not only comes out all right, but Horton finds himself richer than he ever thought he could be. The "Pilliated Sisters," Margaret Seddon and Margaret McWade, are on hand as Horton's maiden aunts, while J. M. Kerrigan, Purnell Pratt, Irving Bacon and a host of others assist in the general fun.

Gutzon Borglum's "Face of Washington," carved on Rushmore mountain in the Black Hills of South Dakota, is 60 feet long.

The British yard originally was defined as the length of the arm of King Henry I, by royal decree.

Local Vote Group Will Hear Talk

C. E. Houston, prominent in California for his many years as directing genius of the Los Angeles County Fair, will be the speaker at the Friday noon meeting of the Santa Ana Women Voter's League at the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe. Houston's subject will be "Public Utilities."

As a result of his intimate associations with Southern California civic, agricultural and industrial affairs, Houston is regarded as especially well qualified to discuss current tax problems.

Charts Development
As president of the Los Angeles County Fair association, Houston has been enabled to chart carefully the developments of Southern California in business. The fair association, like so many other far-famed Southern California institutions, is representative of the entire southland.

Houston is commercial manager of the Southern California Edison Company, with offices in Los Angeles. For many years he was a resident of Pomona, where he was president of the Rotary Club and an active figure in many civic enterprises.

Although not a native son, Houston has been a Californian for many years. He was at one time engaged in business in Ventura county, where he was active in agriculture and in the electrical industry. Virtually all this work in later years has been with the public service phases of the electrical industry. All women in the county are invited.

TRAILER ADVENTURE

By Nard Jones

© 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Falling, with the help of GERRY NEAL, to locate her companion, BETTY HAYNES, abducted by JACK SPEDDON, MARTHA BRITTAIN starts north up the west coast from San Francisco. She faces a long and perilous journey in love with Neal, yet suspects him of being involved in the disappearance of Betty.

At a small California border town she suddenly decides to cast love aside in favor of better judgment, charging him with complicity in Betty's disappearance. Then she speeds on north to Portland. There she gets a strange note from Betty, referring to a "Clank in Seattle." Police tell her that Clank is an underworld character and hint that Betty might have been murdered.

Arriving in Seattle, still searching for Betty, Martha gets a letter at the Yukon parking block from ARNOLD SLOSS, head of the Alaskan Trailer Company, instructing her to turn over her equipment to a designated agent who would meet her there. The agent, in disguise, proves to be Speddon! Martha screams but in a flash Speddon has struck her, she awakes hours later to find herself bound and gagged, lying on the floor of a dock warehouse. Standing over her is Speddon, who tells her she may see Betty in an hour.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIX

MARTHA munched the sandwiches hurriedly. When she had finished, Speddon handed her the warm thermos bottle of coffee. Somehow the black liquid raised her spirits appreciably. "Have you," she asked suddenly, "heard from Gerry Neal?"

In the darkness she sensed Speddon's surprise. "Neal?" he repeated. Then, a moment later, "What about him?"

"I just wondered if you'd heard from him."

Speddon asked oddly.

"He was with me in Monterey, and later in San Francisco." She did not add that he had caused Neal's arrest in Eureka. Speddon's reaction to the subject of Gerry Neal puzzled her, and she did not know how far to go.

"What did he say about me?" Speddon wanted to know.

Martha hesitated. "He said that he knew you. I don't remember him saying anything else. He wondered why you didn't wait for him in Los Angeles as was planned."

"Yeah?" Speddon lit a cigarette in the darkness. Under the yellow flare of the match his thin face shown eerily. "Well, I'll tell you why I didn't wait. It was because I didn't want to. When he wasn't there with you I got suspicious."

"Why?" asked Martha quickly.

Speddon did not answer at once. When his words came slowly, "I want to get out of this racket—"

DOG WINS LEG
There's something in the expression of "Pegleg" here, that must repay two Buffalo, N. Y., veterinarians for saving the dog's life. Pegleg was run over, his front leg crushed. A passerby left him at the animal hospital. The dog licked the doctor's hands, they put away the lethal bottle, amputated the injured leg, then fashioned him the wooden leg on which he now stumps around gaily.

ANAHEIM WELL DEPTH IS TOLD

"There is no information other than the depth," W. H. Hitchman, publicity director of the Shell Oil Co., said today when asked for information concerning the Perry Mathis well at Anaheim.

Although numerous rumors about the well have been circulated, Hitchman would issue no other report than that the well was still drilling at 5503 feet.

Previously Shell officials had stated the well was at 4900 and that production tests would be made.

NEW EFFICIENCY IN PEST FIGHT SEEN PROBABLE

A new fruit and vegetable spray has been developed in California to such a point that some of its experimental achievements may be made public, Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg announced today.

Reports of the accomplishments were made by the University of California Experiment station which now is working on an enlarged scale to determine whether this spray can be recommended.

Recent Tests
In many instances this spray promises to eliminate standard lead arsenate sprays and their serious and costly residue factor, Wahlberg explained.

The new compound is known as phenothiazine which was first made available by the University of California and the United States Department of Agriculture and eastern chemical concerns.

In recent tests, the new compound proved more effective in controlling the codling moth than any other material yet tried. It apparently left no residue.

When used at the same dosage rate as standard lead arsenate, there is less wormy fruit and no injury to foliage or fruit.

To Make Certain
"Phenothiazine is a neutral compound containing the elements of nitrogen, hydrogen, carbon and sulfur and is easily handled when a proper wetting agent is used," Wahlberg said.

"Although the restricted test of last season held great promise, more widespread tests under different conditions of soil and climate may develop an entirely different picture."

TALES OF MODJESKA CANYON HOME REVIVED

World-famous for its beauty and associations is the Modjeska Home in Santiago Canyon. Below is a rare photograph of the dwelling when the eminent artist entertained celebrities there. Also, there is a picture of Helen Opid, shortly after she had married a second time into the nobility of Poland. The other picture is that of Count Modjeska, who was a brilliant conversationalist.

STRUGGLE AND TOIL BACK OF MODJESKA FAME IS REVEALED IN COLORFUL STORY OF PAST

By MRS. J. E. PLEASANTS

One of the loveliest spots in the county, for its natural scenery and most noted for its associations, is the Modjeska Home in Santiago canyon. The story of Modjeska, and her contribution to the American stage, as one of the leading actresses of the world and her choice of a home here, gives to Orange county a singular distinction.

Helena Opid, who was born in the coming Centennial Krakow, Austrian Poland, in 1810, World's Fair in America. In 1876 evinced a love for dramatic expression as a child. Her half brother, Felix Benda was an actor of parts and naturally lent his sister all the assistance and encouragement in his power.

Marries Into Nobility
Success rapidly, from a member of a strolling players troupe to the acme of success on the Warsaw stage.

She had married, become the mother of two children and was widowed while still a young woman. She had married a second time into the nobility of Poland. In reviewing the life of Modjeska in America, it is necessary to take a brief glance at the conditions which then prevailed in her native land, to understand the motives which caused her, her family and a few chosen friends to wish to leave the land of their birth and cast their lot with an alien race, whose language they did not even understand.

Cites Injustice
The Poles are an intensely patriotic people and for centuries have been treated with injustice by the nations who had with ruthless tyranny dismembered the once powerful kingdom of Poland.

There had been many insurrections, all of them unsuccessful. Count Bozenta Chlapowski fought in one of these against Prussia.

After his marriage to Helena Modjeska, they lived in Warsaw, Russian Poland. Naturally they entertained their friends, and as naturally gathered around their salon, the artistic and patriotic youth of Poland. Madame writes in her Memoirs how their house was watched by the Russian police and their guests questioned on leaving the house.

Saddened By Loss
Also at this time she was suffering a double bereavement in the loss of her beloved brother, and her friend and patron Madame Mouchanoff, who had been instrumental in smoothing her way to fame on the Warsaw stage. Modjeska and her brother Felix Benda had ambitious dreams for the elevation of the Russian stage of which Warsaw was then the center. These had been warmly espoused by Mme. Mouchanoff.

Saddened by her double loss, Modjeska's health failed, and her husband had prevailed upon her to retire from the stage.

To them and their friends came the desire to leave Poland and begin life in some more friendly country. This decision reached in 1875 and the interest all over Europe.

Grasshopper Plague
Poor Kansas was having her first plague of grasshoppers. They came on to San Francisco. There were people of their own country in the city and through them they met several Germans. M. Sypniewski speaking German, asked many questions, and was directed to visit the colony of Anaheim in Southern California.

It was spring when they came to Anaheim. The vineyards were in new leaf and everything was beautiful. They returned to Poland and boosted enthusiastically for Anaheim as a place for the little colony to settle. There were eleven in all, Count Bozenta and Madame Modjeska, his wife, the young son, Ralph, M. Sypniewski, his wife and two children, Lucien Paprocki, a cousin of the count, Henryk Sienkiewicz, another young Pole whose name has unfortunately been forgotten and a young Polish girl who was Madame's maid.

Trials As Cook!
After seeing the Exposition at Philadelphia, the party came to

San Francisco by water after having one accident at sea.

Coming to Anaheim they rented a little farm which would now be near the center of town. Here they enthusiastically began the simple life, doing all their own work, both in field and domestic life.

Madame graphically describes the trials of a cook who heroically tried to gratify the diversified tastes of a family who all wanted something different for breakfast. She had to serve coffee, tea, chocolate and wine soup, to satisfy their appetite for drinks.

The enthusiastic farmers soon grew weary of the summer sun and after a few days aching muscles and blistered hands prevented all except her husband and young son from returning to the fields.

Life Loses Charm
There was no one able to pick the grapes or milk the cows. Count Bozenta ever generous financed the waning resources of the colony to the limit until such time as it seemed a change must be made. They were not satisfied with the rented farm, gave it up and bought another. But nature only repeated itself. It seemed impossible to make farmers out of artists, and when homesickness darkened even the blue skies of Anaheim the simple life lost its charm.

Madame's health had been completely restored by the long sea voyage and the wonderful climate of Southern California and she no doubt longed to return to the fascination of the footlights.

She determined to go to San Francisco, learn English and return to the stage. San Francisco was then and for years after the western center of theatrical activities. Madame had a phenomenally quick mind and a great gift of concentration.

She learned English in six months well enough to go on the stage. She always gave the greatest credit to her teacher Josephine Tuholska, a young Polish Jewess, who became her life-long friend.

Questions Pending
The management will accept any reasonable plan for handling the matters involved that may be satisfactory to the organizations.

"Since the questions at issue are still pending before the U. S. National Mediation Board, strike action at this time would distinctly violate the Railway Labor Act. In view of this and the further fact that the history of the organizations concerned has shown them to be law-abiding, it is inconceivable that a strike will be actually forced, needlessly and unlawfully, at this time.

Provisions of Act
"Actual interruption of service is further unlikely under provisions of the Railway Labor Act empowering the President, when interruption of interstate commerce is threatened, to create a board to investigate and recommend disposition of the dispute.

"This board must make its report within 30 days after its creation, and during that period and for 30 days thereafter, no strike action can legally be taken. Such emergency board recommendations in the past have invariably formed a basis for amicable settlements."

the west veranda, with the expanding view of century-old live oaks and the rose garden bordered with mammoth California violets, whose perfume greeted you before you entered the grounds.

Here you enjoyed a rare cup of coffee with real cream from the ranch cows, and met many interesting people. The great Paderewski, Frederick Ward, Otis Skinner and a host of other celebrities were often guests, but always to many of us the Count himself was the most entertaining conversationalist, and his simplicity of manner was his greatest charm. The old house has gone through many changes with the years. At one time it was an inn of note under the able management of G. A. Schweiger, who made for a while such a success of St. Ann's Inn. It is now the private home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Walker, a Long Beach banker. The front part of the old garden was badly injured by the recent flood in the Santiago canyon but the owners viewed the wreck philosophically and immediately planned to restore it to its original beauty.

She wired her husband the news in the one word "Victory." Her success on the American and English stage is too well known to repeat in detail. In 1888 she bought the ranch from J. E. Pleasants in Santiago canyon which now bears her name. This was her only home in America until she sold it about two years before her death which occurred at her last home on Bay Island in 1909.

Charitable and public spirited, she and her husband contributed their share to the social and civic life of Santa Ana and Orange county. At their canyon home they were gracious hosts to many friends. A charming Polish custom was their Four O'clock Coffee at which their friends and neighbors were always welcome.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE
Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, lumbago, loss of energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache, indigestion.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Kidney Pills, successfully used by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

S. P. REVEALS WHY STRIKE IS NOT IN OFFING

"The company does not expect a strike," said President A. D. McDonald of the Southern Pacific, commenting on the strike vote being taken by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

"There is no real dispute between the company and the labor organizations. The difficulty has grown out of a controversy regarding jurisdiction between the firemen's and the trainmen's brotherhoods, on the one hand and on the other hand, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Order of Railway Conductors, which are not taking a strike vote.

Questions Pending
The management will accept any reasonable plan for handling the matters involved that may be satisfactory to the organizations.

"Since the questions at issue are still pending before the U. S. National Mediation Board, strike action at this time would distinctly violate the Railway Labor Act. In view of this and the further fact that the history of the organizations concerned has shown them to be law-abiding, it is inconceivable that a strike will be actually forced, needlessly and unlawfully, at this time.

Provisions of Act
"Actual interruption of service is further unlikely under provisions of the Railway Labor Act empowering the President, when interruption of interstate commerce is threatened, to create a board to investigate and recommend disposition of the dispute.

"This board must make its report within 30 days after its creation, and during that period and for 30 days thereafter, no strike action can legally be taken. Such emergency board recommendations in the past have invariably formed a basis for amicable settlements."

the west veranda, with the expanding view of century-old live oaks and the rose garden bordered with mammoth California violets, whose perfume greeted you before you entered the grounds.

Here you enjoyed a rare cup of coffee with real cream from the ranch cows, and met many interesting people. The great Paderewski, Frederick Ward, Otis Skinner and a host of other celebrities were often guests, but always to many of us the Count himself was the most entertaining conversationalist, and his simplicity of manner was his greatest charm. The old house has gone through many changes with the years. At one time it was an inn of note under the able management of G. A. Schweiger, who made for a while such a success of St. Ann's Inn. It is now the private home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Walker, a Long Beach banker. The front part of the old garden was badly injured by the recent flood in the Santiago canyon but the owners viewed the wreck philosophically and immediately planned to restore it to its original beauty.

She wired her husband the news in the one word "Victory." Her success on the American and English stage is too well known to repeat in detail. In 1888 she bought the ranch from J. E. Pleasants in Santiago canyon which now bears her name. This was her only home in America until she sold it about two years before her death which occurred at her last home on Bay Island in 1909.

Charitable and public spirited, she and her husband contributed their share to the social and civic life of Santa Ana and Orange county. At their canyon home they were gracious hosts to many friends. A charming Polish custom was their Four O'clock Coffee at which their friends and neighbors were always welcome.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE
Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, lumbago, loss of energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache, indigestion.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Kidney Pills, successfully used by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Blanding Is Enthused By Discussions

Intensive arguments tossed back and forth across the family dinner table or the tables of friends make the home the predominant factor in making American history, according to W. H. (Ted) Blanding, chairman of directors for the Forum for Political and Economic Education, and leader in other idea-exchange groups, here.

"A recent study completed at Northwestern University has given corroboration to by belief regarding these family discussions," Blanding said today. "The study, made through a survey of 2500 students at the school, shows that 54 per cent believed the intimate family group had been most important in defining attitudes toward government. Public schools were given next importance with 26 per cent, elections third with 13 per cent, and newspapers, radio, politicians and the church were named by the students as other influences."

Blanding said ideas put forth at such meetings as the Forum for Political and Economic Education are most frequently those coming from family dinner table discussions.

The forum programs are often a means of "unloading" our dinner table ideas upon someone outside of the family circle to see if others think them as worthy as we do, he added. "Only through exchange of thought-provoking ideas does a nation or person progress," he concluded.

Windbreak Tour Will Be Joined By U. C. Expert

Prof. Woodbridge Metcalf, forester for the University of California, will join the discussion of the windbreak demonstration and field tour to be conducted by Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg at 1:30 p. m. Friday.

This tour has been planned because of considerable interest in windbreak protection through various sections of the county.

Growers will be given first-hand information on the various problems in connection with the selection of trees for this purpose and the distance of planting in the row and from the property line.

A root cutting demonstration has been arranged in cooperation with Pernel Barnett of Orange to show depth and distance of cutting from the tree row.

This month is ideal for planting windbreaks, Wahlberg indicated.

Cars will assemble at 17th street and Grand avenue, one mile east of Santa Ana, about two miles south of Orange at 1:30 p. m. Several windbreak plantings are to be visited.

Birds have the most highly developed vision in all animal or human life. Able to see accurately at short distances, they also are able to do so from incredible heights, as in the case of buzzards, condors and hawks.

Players Guild Gives Monthly Barn Program

Standing room only was available to late comers at The Barn last night, when Santa Ana Community Players' monthly program was given by Pasadena Drama Guild, comedy cup winner in last year's Southern California Tournament of One-Act Plays, and entrant in this year's Tournament to be held in Santa Ana April 23 and 24.

One of the most enthusiastic of this year's Barn program audiences was present for the event, which had been planned by Mrs. Walter Spicer, program chairman. "Deadlines," a one-act play with plot laid in an editorial room of a small town newspaper, was directed by John Nash, who directed the winning comedy in the Tournament last year. Others in the cast were Charles Otis and Manley Oliver. Mrs. Nash was present for the affair.

Mrs. Benjamin Livesey sang "Hills of Home" (Fox) and "To the Sun" (Curran), accompanied by Mrs. Leslie Steffensen. Refreshments were served by Mrs. I. W. Gallman. Mrs. Norman Hicks, Miss Eleanor Crookshank and Miss Hoover.

Tournament Plans
Recently-completed plans for the annual Tournament to be held in Ebell clubhouse April 23 and 24 were revealed by Mrs. Robert Horn, general chairman. Committees working with her included Mrs. Marshall Harnois, technical director, and Mrs. John Swarthout, refreshments.

Havrah Hubbard, drama critic of San Diego, again will serve as one of the Tournament judges, assisting Miss Mary Rose Borum, Tustin Union High School drama instructor, and Miss Frances Hubbard, head of play production department of University of Southern California School of Speech.

Of special interest were plans for social features of the Tournament. Six o'clock dinners on Friday and Saturday nights of the contest will come in compliment to the visiting players. The program each night will be followed by a reception, with the public invited to attend.

The traditional round table discussion of the Tournament program will be an event of Saturday, April 24 at 2:30 p. m. in Ebell clubhouse lounge. This too, will be open to all interested in the event. Chairman of this feature of the program, as well as various other committee workers for the Tournament, will be named in the near future. It was announced today by Mrs. Horn.

BLACK 'N WHITE

White is ever the most perfect complement for a black suit. Goupy-Rosine has added some original touches in blouse design to this smart Paris creation. Of fine white pique, it has a pointed collar of new outline and a bow finish at the neckline. White crystal buttons are bright and modish. Worn with a black lagoon suit and the hat of black straw brim and satin crown, banded with white pique, it is one of the favorites of the new season.

Former Santa Anan Is Inspiration For Layette Shower

Happy Afternoon Planned For Birthday

When a young lady reaches the mature age of three years, as did little Miss Maralee Hostetter on Sunday, April 11, the occasion is well worthy such a happy observance as was given Monday afternoon when a group of happy children responded to Mrs. L. M. Hostetter's invitation to a party for the tiny daughter of the home at 1321 Orange avenue.

Although Maralee's mother had specified that there should be no gifts, each child came happily bearing a be-ribboned package for the little birthday maid, and examination of the pretty gifts was no small part of the afternoon's pleasure. There was dodge ball played within doors, then all trooped to the garden for the swings, teeter and sand pile, and to blow soap bubbles.

Maralee shared birthday honors with little Barbara Jean Juvonnet of Norwalk, whose anniversary is today (April 14) and who was born just three years ago at the same hospital. The birthday cake served with ice cream, was for both of them, and with refreshments were also favors which gave each small guest a pretty cap to wear. To complete the afternoon, Maralee led her playmates to a big box with pink and yellow streamers which drew out pretty gifts for all the children.

Mrs. J. F. Hostetter helped entertain her little granddaughter's guests who were Franklin Alexander, Donna Dee Dixon, Teddy Faulkner, Hazel Hoffman, Jimmie Bernadette, Agnes and Marjorie Kellett, Rosaline Gold, Barbara Jean Juvonnet, Billy and Bobby McAdoo, Virginia and John Franklin Stewart, Patsy and Roy Hall, Jackie Mandy and Raymond Miller.

Variety is Expressed In Books Chosen For Review

That Miss Mabel Whiting will direct activities of Orange County branch, A. A. U. W. through the coming year, was result of the election held at the latest meeting of that group in the Y. W. clubrooms.

Miss Whiting who will succeed Miss Martha Ehlen in the office of president, will have as her official staff, Mrs. Richard Robbins, vice-president; Mrs. Grace Knipe, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Alfred Knight, recording secretary; Mrs. R. W. Tibbets, treasurer; Miss Ehlen, Miss Lucie McDermott, Miss Ethel Walker and Mrs. George Duke, directors.

Following this important business session, University Women heard with deep interest, a review of current books of value given in informal manner by Mrs. Dan Hammack, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Robert Northcross. Mrs. Hammack voiced her conclusions that books of the present are written mainly to express the deep underlying feeling of the moment, and many of them hark back to days of the not too remote past.

Pointing out that in her reading experience, important books seemed to come in groups of three, she gave her concise reviews in that manner. In the opening group she considered Carl Van Doren's "Three Worlds;" Willa Cather's "Not Under 40," and "Who Loves A Garden" by Louise Sayward Jones. Historical in theme were "Gone With the Wind" (Mitchell); "Drums Along the Mohawk" (Edwards); and "Rich Man, Poor Man" (Fairbank).

"The Flowering of New England" (Brooks); "The Late George Appleby" (Marquand); and "Being Little in Cambridge" (Abbott) comprised her New England group, followed by Malvina Hoffman's "Heads and Tales" and "The Woman Surgeon" (Dr. Morton) hailed as biographies of achievement; Ostrander's "More Than Red" and the McGuffey anthology of "Old Favorites," representing the poetry field; Richter's "Sea of Grass;" Lute's "Country Kitchens;" and Link's "The Return to Religion" classified as "little gems;" and the two books of cheerfulness, "Live Alone and Like It," and "Wake Up and Live."

Fascinated by her summary of the various books, University Women continued the discussion of them as they enjoyed the social hour and refreshments planned by a hostess group composed of Mrs. Mabel C. Budd and the Misses Ruth Stevenson and Berenice Boyd.

Tux and Gown Board To Plan Spring Dance

Tux and Gown club's spring dance will be planned Friday evening when new and retiring board members will meet at 7:30 o'clock in the home of Chairman Herbert Hill, 202 Wright street.

Since this will be the first meeting of the new board, it is expected that all members as well as all retiring members will be present to join in suggesting plan of activity for the new year. The club's next dance probably will be held early in May, it was announced.

Canada exported $23,697,000 worth of copper bars, rods, etc., during the year 1935.

Spring Bridal News Revealed At Formal Tea

Miniature marriage certificates distributed among guests at a tea given Sunday afternoon by Mrs. Alma Wright of Fullerton, were of special significance, for guests learned that the date of February 25 actually the date of the marriage of Miss Eloise Wright, daughter of the hostess, and Stanley Allen of Fullerton.

Because of this romantic news flower decorations of the home also assumed new significance, for they were arranged with bridal wreath as the main blossom, its long and graceful sprays twined in tall vases and baskets. Yuma was the scene of the marriage so pleasantly announced.

Mrs. Wright and her daughter were joined in receiving by Mr. Allen's mother, Mrs. Lloyd C. Gillespie of Fullerton, and the two mothers completed their smart afternoon costumes with corsage clusters of Tailsman roses, the gift of Mr. Allen, who provided deep red roses for his bride to wear.

Half a hundred or more guests were received, including many from Santa Ana where the new Mrs. Allen has long been prominent in social circles including Sigma Tau Psi sorority. Among Santa Ana guests were Miss Alyce Majors, Mrs. Terry Stephenson Jr., Mrs. Edward Sugden, Mrs. Thomas Jentges, Miss Ruby Ellis and Mrs. D. W. Ellis.

Mrs. D. W. Ellis is an aunt of the bride, and was one of those asked to preside at the beautifully appointed tea table. This group included also Mrs. A. W. Cleaver, Mrs. Hugh Watson and Mrs. D. C. Cowles of Fullerton. Assisting in serving the tempting delicacies of the menu were the bride's sister, Miss Marian Wright with Mrs. D. W. Hobbs, Miss Betty Clay and Miss Lola Packard of Fullerton.

It is probable that the new Mr. and Mrs. Allen will make their home in Anaheim where Mr. Allen is with Standard Oil. His bride will complete her year's work at University of Southern California where she is enrolled.

Birthday Occasions Surprise Celebration

Surprising Mrs. W. W. Chandler on occasion of her birthday anniversary, a group of friends arrived at her home, 301 North Garney street, Monday evening with all in readiness for a merry party.

The conspirators assembled first in the home of the Ben H. Bakers, 903 West Fifth street, continuing from there to the Chandler residence. Sandwiches, ice cream and birthday cake were served at the close of a session of bridge play. Mrs. Chandler was presented with gifts.

Present were Messrs. and Mesdames W. W. Chandler, John Baker, H. Baker, John Crawford, Thomas Crawford, Frank Gowen, James Liebig, C. E. Moore, Joseph Prevost, A. H. T. Taylor; Mesdames Stella Henderson, Bess McDonald, George Peters, Pauline Decker, this city; and Mrs. Harry Feltham of Los Angeles.

CORONETS

The coronation had created a problem for London hairdressers that American coiffeurs won't have to face—designing hair dress for the peeresses who will wear coronets at the ceremony. If any of the noble ladies are attractively blond, they'll no doubt want to look as pretty as the model above.

Announcements

Young business people of the community are invited to the second of a series of informal dances tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the Y.W.C.A. rooms. Music will be provided by Frederick Schrock. A small sum will be charged for admittance to the affair. Committee members announce that the dances will be held weekly during the months of April and May.

Philathea class of First Presbyterian church will stage a dinner party tomorrow night at 6:30 o'clock in the Y.W. clubrooms where the winning side in a recent membership contest, will be complimented by the losers.

Teresa Past Noble Grands will meet tomorrow for a 12:30 o'clock covered dish luncheon with Mrs. Martha Vandewalker, 512 South Parton street.

Worthwhile club will meet Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. A. Lagasse, 818 North Sycamore street.

St. Anne's parish will have a benefit card party Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Veterans hall. Bridge and 500 will be played, with prizes given and a door prize. Mesdames James Sullivan, Mary

"Garden Tour" Itinerary To Be Announced

Although final choice of gardens has not yet been made in anticipation of the annual Y. W. C. A. Garden Tour of Saturday afternoon, May 1, this list will be ready to make public next week, according to Mrs. J. T. Wilson, who as chairman of the committee on selection, is being assisted by Ted Blanding.

Probably no spring event arouses more wide-spread interest in this community than these annual visits to lovely Santa Ana gardens and the interest extends to far more distant points, for flower lovers in Los Angeles and other Southland cities always await the event with eagerness, and arrive on the selected date to make the rounds with "garden tourists."

This year as in previous springs, the Y. W. hostesses will arrange for each group to include the gardens of the Hugh Gerrard home, 2009 Victoria Drive, where tea will be served between the hours of 3:30 and 5 o'clock. Mrs. M. Burr Wellington as general chairman, named Mrs. William H. Spurgeon Jr. as chairman for this special committee whose members include also Mrs. Ray Adkinson and Mrs. Clarence Gustin, with Mrs. W. Bradford Hellis as chairman of the hostess group.

Mrs. Wilson and Mr. Blanding are making their selection of gardens with a view to their appeal not only to those interested in landscape gardening on a large scale, but also to those who have only "pocket handkerchief" lawns and wish to learn how they may be planted to the best advantage. They promise some unusually arresting flower arrangements in various garden plots.

Local Thalian Trio Gives Program Today

Thalian trio of this city, composed of Mrs. Faye Spicer, violin, Miss Anna May Archer, cello, and Mrs. Pauline Graef Rhoades, piano, presented a program this afternoon in the Los Angeles home of Mrs. Arthur E. Stark, 2339 Corning street.

The occasion was a musical tea honoring Mrs. Renato C. Longobardi and Miss Dorothy Kilgore, who will leave soon for an extended tour of Europe. Both travelers are members of Los Angeles Junior Ebell society in which Mrs. Rhoades' sister, Miss Marion Graef, has membership.

Miss Graef assisted Thalian trio this afternoon, singing several soprano solos. When Los Angeles Junior Ebell society presented an operetta late last year, Miss Graef sang one of the leading roles.

Trinity College, Dublin, was incorporated by royal charter in 1591.

Newberry, Antone Borchard, Marshall and Collins will be hostesses. De Molay Mothers circle will have a benefit dessert bridge party Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock in Masonic temple lounge. Auction, contract and 500 will be played with prizes for each. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

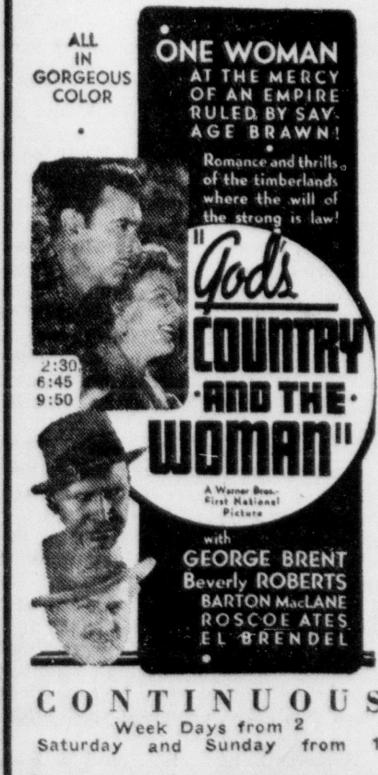

First Methodist Woman's Aid North section will meet tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the church social hall. Members will spend the time sewing.

ORANGE, April 14.—Spring plans which include the extension of an invitation to mothers of the group to be present at the next meeting to be held May 10 in observance of Mothers Day, were made Monday evening when members of the Senior-itas held a joint social and business session in the Walker Memorial hall. At the close of the debate, the Misses Esther Schulz, Emma Duker and Ellanora Schroeder presented a novelty stunt in the form of a talent quest, after which several games of "Dutch Whist" were enjoyed. FIRST METHODIST CHURCH IN ANNUAL MEETING; HEAR SPEAKER

ORANGE, April 14.—Holding a combined annual meeting with a quarterly conference, members and friends of the First Methodist church gathered at Epworth hall last night for a covered dish dinner and program of business. Dr. J. E. Dunning of Santa Ana, district superintendent, presided and delivered a short address. Election of church officers was deferred until the latter part of May. S. B. Edwards is president of the board of trustees.

The pastor of the church, the Rev. Arthur T. Hobson presented a number of plans for church activities. Plans were discussed for an all-year series of programs to be presented weekly from October until the latter part of May of each year. These meetings would not interfere with the usual church night programs given the first six weeks of each year, rather this series would be included in it, according to the plans presented.

A series of travel talks, Bible studies and a teachers training course were considered for inclusion in the programs. Improvements in the unified evening services were talked over and plans made for an exhibit of Sunday school work on May 16 on which day Children's Day will be observed. In the evening a play written by the pastor, "What the Children Did" will be given.

The annual Mothers and Daughters banquet was announced for May 7 with Mrs. L. L. Williams in charge of details. On May 9 at the evening service a play will be presented by Mexican young people of the vicinity under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Alden and the Rev. A. C. Escobedo. Grandparents day will be on May 2 and Youths Day, April 25. Memorial services on May 30 and the annual conference on June 15 at Los Angeles.

Interest in the $5 banquet to be held April 22 was evidenced in a discussion of the event. Dinner is to be served by members of the Ladies Aid society under the direction of Mrs. J. R. Kenyon. The ticket purchased for $5 will provide dinner for the purchaser and one other person, it was announced. H. E. Gilton is program chairman.

Important among discussions was a definite plan for work of the Intermediate department. R. C. Patton, counsel of the religious education department of the church will head a committee to study the problem and also head committees on other suggestions made.

The Mixing Bowl

By ANN MEREDITH

"Cleaning up the kitchen" is not a derogatory culinary title in any sense of the word, simply descriptive. Recipes of this type call for bits of left-over roasts, steaks, or what-have-you in cooked meats. And, believe it or not, dishes of this type will be on your menu more frequently from now on if we are to believe the story of mounting food prices. Here it is, a whole meal-in-one, requiring only a crisp salad and a fruity sort of dessert to make your meal complete.

Italian Casserole
2-3 of package of bread noodles (bulk cellophane package)
4 tablespoons bacon fat
2 or 3 cups of chopped cooked meat
2 large onions, chopped fine and cooked in bacon fat.
A No. 2 can of tomato purée
A No. 2 can of corn
Tail can of ripe olives
1 cup grated cheese
Salt, pepper and paprika to taste
Pinch of cayenne and a few shreds of dried rosemary

First, a word about ROSEMARY: this is a favorite Italian seasoning, comparable to our sage, only better. If you cannot obtain it in its dried form, go to a store handling imported Italian foods and buy it bottled, in oil. A tiny bit is all you need in any dish.
Boil and drain the noodles, combine with meat, corn, olives, tomatoes, fried onion, and season to taste. Spread in a shallow casserole, top with the cheese and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. (Fried hamburger can be used, too.) I'll guarantee that you won't have enough left to feed the cat.

Send for our Safe and Sane Reducing diet if you want to lose weight easily, safely, and comfortably. A stamped, self-addressed envelope is required for mailing purposes.

FRANCE'S ISLAND OF RUM

VASCO DA GAMA had rounded the Cape of Good Hope at the beginning of the 16th century, other Portuguese sailors followed, and in the course of these voyages the small volcanic island of Reunion, 400 miles east of Madagascar, was discovered. In 1513 the island was named Mascarenhas, after its discoverer, but when the French East Indian Company arrived there in 1643, and established the town of St. Denis, the island became known as Bourbon, one of the first French colonies in the world. The name of Bourbon was anathema after the establishment of the second French Republic in 1848, and so this island in the Indian Ocean was named Reunion. Today it is a thriving but lonely spot in the ocean, from which large quantities of sugar and more than 1,000,000 gallons of rum are exported annually. The stamp below, issued in 1905, shows a view of St. Denis, and the island coat of arms.

COAST ASSN. TO MEET AT COSTA MESA

COSTA MESA, April 14.—Matters relative to our state highways including a showing of the movie "California Highways," and talks by prominent highway officials on highway safety, will predominate in the program that is being planned by the Orange County Coast association for its next regular meeting in the Woman's clubhouse here, Tuesday evening, April 20, according to Harry Welch, secretary of the organization. The association chairman, Leslie F. Kimmell will preside.

Justus F. Craemer, assistant director of public works, will be one of the state speakers, according to an announcement from him that he will be at the meeting. It is expected that Phil A. Stanton of Anaheim, member of the State Highway commission, will be in attendance. The movie "California Highways" is a sound and color picture, it was stated.

A late report on the progress of the Orange County Fishing Reserve bill, which is now before the state legislature, will be given by Dan Mulholland, chairman of the association fishing committee. Mulholland and President Kimmell recently visited Sacramento in the interests of the above measure.

Included in the invitations to the above meeting, now being mailed out by Mr. Welch will be an appeal to members and friends of legislators urging the passage by the Assembly and Senate of the Fishing bill, he stated.

Discuss Outfall Sewer Problems At Center Meet

PLACENTIA, April 14.—The present needs of the cities of Fullerton, La Habra, Placentia and Buena Park to either assist in repairing the lines of the Outfall sewer or in establishing some other means of sewage disposal is likely to lead to a new program according to data presented at the meeting of the Placentia Farm Center this week at the Haber cafe.

Grover Walters, secretary of the Outfall sewer committee, and city water superintendent of Fullerton, discussed the problems that are facing all cities in this district in connection with sewage disposal. He pointed out that the establishment of a waste water reclamation program would cost little more than the present cost of replacing the outfall sewer, and the modern way of handling sewage would serve a purpose in reclaiming annually about 1500 acre feet of water a year for irrigation purposes.

Considerable discussion came from the floor. D. Halladay, a past president of the Farm Center, suggested that the city and the country water users might join in establishment of such a system, since they are to share jointly in results by water conservation. Walter pointed out the cities of the district in question are cognizant of the need of water conservation as well as of the need for adequate sewage disposal facilities.

SPRING IS HERE NOW! EVIDENCED BY BUILDING BOOM AT LAGUNA

LAGUNA BEACH, April 14.—The usual Spring boom, intensified plus, is on in Laguna, aided by perfect weather. New establishments are being opened and built, in keeping with the record-breaking building program.

Here are some of the high lights: C. S. Scott, new owner of the Hotel Casa Del Camino, reports capacity business. . . . Mrs. Benita Spencer Loveland of Los Angeles, purchased the "Wide Chimes" Gift Shop, 486 Coast Boulevard, from Mrs. John Porter. . . . Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ohlsen are building a quaint housing for their circulating library, at the foot of Park Avenue. . . . Last vestiges of the old Sandwich Mill disappeared on Friday, demolition being complete; the new Bank of America building, to open May first, will occupy the landmark corner. . . .

With installation of a new front in Marriner's stationery store, adjoining the present bank building, all the units in the McKnight building will be re-fronted, such work having already been done on Stuart Ave's haberdashery, Reich's curio headquarters, and adjoining stores in the same holding. . . . Mrs. Courter, well-known in Santa Ana, has opened a restaurant in the transportation headquarters at Ocean and Beach, already housing Greyhound, Santa Ana-Laguna Bus line, Railway Express, and all-over ticket agencies, handled by Charles Turner. . . .

A new warehouse to cost $16,000 is being erected for Charles H. Jester, whose present warehouse will be occupied by Forest Avenue Garage; the former site of the garage having been cleared off to make way for the Atlantic & Pacific new store, due to open around May 10th. . . . Harold Bradley is temporarily occupying quarters at the Broadway-Laguna Canyon junction, awaiting the several moves necessitated by the AP-Jester-Gene-Douglas shuffling of holdings, to re-locate the Forest Garage. . . . All these re-locations will be straightened out in the course of the next few days. . . .

Time marches on in Laguna; and so does building, in both business and home-site structures. Sunday's record-breaking crowd of visitors included hundreds of perennials, who, viewing the changes wrought in one year, were LAGUNA BEACH, April 14.—May 14th next, has been set as the date for the school-bond election to be held in Laguna Beach, when qualified electors of the unified school district will be called upon to authorize issuance of $100,000.00 in bonds, proceeds from which are to be used as follows: $70,000.00 for "purchasing of lots, building or purchase of school buildings, making of alterations or additions to the school building or buildings . . . repairing, etc. . . . supplying furniture or other apparatus of a permanent nature, and permanent improvement of the school grounds." This sum is to be used for the elementary department of the Laguna School district.

The remaining $30,000, the election notice goes on to say, will be utilized for the same purposes as set forth in connection with the $70,000 item mentioned above, with the proviso that the high school department of Laguna School district will be beneficiary of the expenditure incurred.

The bonds, in denominations of $1000 each, will run from one year to 20 years, bearing 5 per cent interest. Retirement will be at the rate of three bonds yearly, commencing with bonds numbered 1 to 3, inclusive, and ending, 20 years hence, with retirement of bonds numbered 66 to 70; this being the $70,000 portion of the issue.

Retirement of the $30,000 high school portion of the issue will be at the rate of two bonds annually, excepting the first and last bonds which will be redeemed individually during the initial and final years of the period covered.

Next month's election will be held at a single voting place, in the elementary school building at 720 Park avenue, the district being declared a single election precinct; Frederick B. Walker will be inspector, and Randolph Bainbridge and Ida E. Bowen judges, the polls being open from 1 p. m. to 7 p. m. on the day of election.

GARDEN GROVE O.E.S. HOST TO OFFICIAL

GARDEN GROVE, April 14.—Lillian Edwards, of Orange, deputy grand matron of the 57th district, made her official visit to Garden Grove Chapter No. 483 of the Eastern Star recently when they met in I. O. O. F. hall in Anaheim with Worthy Matron Alice E. Keele presiding. Mrs. Edwards was escorted into the chapter room and honors accorded her. The worthy matron very cleverly presented the deputy with a gift of silver from the chapter in the form of a shower from a small umbrella. Mrs. Edwards graciously responded and gave some instructions on the new work this year, complimenting the Garden Grove officers on their work.

Worthy matrons presented were Elizabeth Lewis, of Hermosa chapter, Santa Ana; Clara Wilson, of Chispa chapter, Anaheim; Catherine Ledley, of Yorba Linda; Olive Mason, of Laguna Beach, and James Austin, worthy patron, also of Laguna Beach.

All work of the order was exemplified. Beatrice Berman was received into the chapter by initiation and L. A. Young by affiliation from San Benito, Texas, chapter. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served to 75 members and guests from Greenburg, Yorba Linda, Anaheim, Orange, Huntington Beach, Santa Ana and Laguna Beach. Hostesses were Mae E. Pearson and Margaret Hill, assisted by Nellie B. Aabel, Matilda Hill, Marguerite Schneider, James Hammontree and James Henry.

"Charter Night" and the tenth birthday anniversary of the chapter will be observed at the next meeting on April 22. A good attendance is desired.

Bride-Elect Is Honored At Party

LA HABRA, April 14.—Announcing the wedding date, June 12, for the coming marriage of Miss Betty Lou Clayton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Clayton of La Habra Heights to Charles Davis of Salinas, a party was given recently in Fullerton. Miss Helen Mae Stone entertained with a miscellaneous bridal shower for the bride-elect and the wedding date was announced by wedding rings wrapped in white slips containing the words "Betty Lou and Charles, June 12." The rings were concealed in bouquets of red ranunculus which centered the refreshment tables and were attached to ribbon streamers leading to each place.

Cootie was played during the afternoon and prizes awarded. The guest list included Lois King, Barbara Koch, Helen Whittaker, Lucille Neiman, Nadine McKinley, Audrey Hollingsworth, Elva Welch and Lenore Cain of Fullerton; Winnie McCool and Janet Henry of Placentia; Fern and Joy Schnitzer of Garden Grove; Bonnie Miller of Atwood; Mrs. June Knox of Downey; Mrs. Mathleen Devine of Santa Ana, and Eunice Launer, Louise Soule, Nellie Scofield, Fern Jones, Mrs. A. D. Clayton and the honoree of La Habra.

TRYING A NEW KIND OF DEMOCRACY

While the decision of the Supreme Court takes away the right of people with unity of purposes and beliefs to associate together in carrying out their interpretation of the philosophy of Jesus Christ, "It is more blessed to give than to receive," it allows those who have another interpretation of this philosophy to associate together unhindered and unrestricted.

By this statement, we mean the men who believe it is more blessed to put more into the world than they take out are prevented from having the right to freely associate with each other in carrying these ideas out. Those who believe that this could be a land of plenty, if they had the right to manage it, are permitted freely to associate together and are given the right to prevent the other group from associating together.

Possibly, looking at this from a philosophical and a long time point of view, it is best that this condition came about because, if those who contend that they can add to the general welfare if they are given the right to control the lives of those who disagree with them, are not given this complete control, they always will appeal to the majority and say that the cause of poverty is due to their not having complete authority and control. And the great mass of people never would have been satisfied and always would have believed that these people, who think it is wicked to work and serve humanity and receive little for it, had not been given the right opportunity to serve them; that they had been interfered with by other people with selfish interest.

Now that the Supreme Court has given these men almost unlimited authority to regulate the lives of those who believe that it is more blessed to put into the world than to take out, they will have no alibi. They will have an opportunity to try their theories and when they fail to work, as every man who has imposed difficult tasks upon himself well knows, they will fail, then the great mass of people will turn from them and be willing to follow the leadership of those people who contend that it is more blessed to put things into the world than to personally take them out.

So if we are to go through with this Gethsemane, this wishful experimentation of bottle-neck control and trust the lives and destiny of our people into the hands of political congressmen, it may be for the best in the long run. The sooner the people have an opportunity to learn that this will not work, the sooner we will realize what real democracy means; that it does not mean the voting majority has the right to control the lives of the minority. We will have prosperity, when we realize what REAL democracy means and then only.

"INTELLIGENT JOB OF READING"

Dr. R. M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, in talking to the members of the Modern Forum at Los Angeles Monday night, said that the majority of failures are those who cannot do an intelligent job of reading.

Dr. Hutchins "proclaimed the worthlessness of frivolous trends toward vocational teaching. Universities now offer classes in cosmetology, dude ranching, delicatessen tending, shoe salesmanship and hundreds of similar classes designed for vocational success. Instead of enabling the graduate to fit into business successfully, this is more likely to unfit him in fact."

Dr. Hutchins said, as a sop to those who look on a college degree (and he might have added a high school degree) as a badge of social position, he would award a Bachelor of Arts degree at the end of the general schooling period.

Inasmuch as training a man to do one thing often reduces his ability to adapt himself to other things not identical, the curriculum in high schools and colleges becomes of momentous importance if our young people are not to spend their time boondoggling. It might be developed that our major boondoggling institutions have been our high schools and colleges. If that be the case, we have not been as kind to our children as most of us blindly believe we have. It is a pleasant sedative to satisfy the ego and vanity of parents to send children to high schools and colleges and think that we are being kind and fair to them. In reality, it might be we are being exactly the opposite.

20 CENT MILEAGE

When a Congressman, the other day, proposed that Congress should pass a law, or a regulation, reducing the allowance of 20 cents a mile to Congressmen, only two Congressmen approved the move to eliminate the 20 cent a mile graft.

This certainly is a nice illustration of the morale, honesty and integrity of the people whom we elect to pass our laws. It is a pitiful state of affairs when men, who are drawing $10,000 a year in salary, will take three or four times as much for transportation as it costs them. Yet the voting majority believes more of the management of our business should be turned over to men of this caliber. The recent Supreme Court decision gives these legislators almost unlimited authority over the economic lives of all workers. If it improves their conditions, it will be the first time in all history and it has been tried many times.

"WOODMAN, SPARE THAT TREE"

Rooted as deeply in the hearts of mankind as they are in Mother Earth, trees exert a lure over humanity that is universal. Artists, whether in music, literature or painting, go to them for inspiration. They offer priceless gifts—food, clothing, shelter, warmth, to say nothing of the gift of beauty. The worth of their moral lessons is incalculable. The crookedest sapling may grow into a straight and beautiful tree with the proper care, the correct amount of sunlight and of soil conditions.

Then there is the lesson of permanence. Trees do not grow by moving restlessly hither and thither, seeking more favorable conditions to their development. They merely send their roots deeper into the soil, drawing from it, the elements necessary to their growth.

With all these associations, doesn't it seem to come almost within the category of a crime, to disturb needlessly, the growth and permanence of a tree? We are wondering about this, because of the possibility of sacrificing the beautiful trees on Santa Ana High school campus.

It seems that these trees which have made the campus a thing of unusual charm over a long period of years, interfere with present architectural and landscaping plans. Can this be possible? Are the plans of sufficient importance and imbued with sufficient promise of future beauty, to merit such a wholesale sacrifice of beauty already established?

If trees sprang into their majesty of form and foliage as rapidly as do roses, for instance, then it might be possible to sacrifice these campus trees without a qualm. We could see them felled with a degree of equanimity, certain that another season would see beauty and grandeur in their place.

Maybe we're old-fashioned in our ideas of what constitutes beauty in nature, but we'd really like to know what the architects and landscape experts plan to substitute for these trees.

AN ACCOMPLISHMENT

One often hears the remark that a luncheon or service club is a waste of time. To the outsider this may seem true, but those on the inside have a different picture and many are the accomplishments that never reach the public's ear.

However, the 20-30 club has accomplished something and it has not hid its light under a bushel.

Several months ago a movement was started to construct a city bowling green. Many were the adversities that had to be overcome before the project was given the sanction of the city council. Today the green is completed and persons who have seen bowling greens and who know good ones when they see them declare the local set-up is the finest in Southern California. That in the face of the fact that there are 22 greens in the Southland alone.

Formation of a Santa Ana Lawn Bowling club is now being talked and soon some of the best bowling teams of the coast will be coming here.

The 20-30 club is to be congratulated on its accomplishment.

EXPLAINS INFLATION

Walter Lippmann makes a rather simple but vivid illustration of some of the causes of inflation.

He says: "An inflation exists when people are trying to spend more than they have produced. If I grow a melon and eat it, there is no inflation. But if three unexpected guests arrive with their mouths watering, and I have to divide that same melon among the four of us, then there is inflation. My income from the melon is now one quarter of what it was. Although the world economy is much more complicated than this, the melon illustrates what is going on.

If we look at this country and the world as a whole we see a large number of persons producing melons. But we see also a large number of persons who are not producing melons but have legal tender in their pockets entitling them to share in the melons that are being produced. These persons get this legal tender by digging gold out of the ground which is promptly buried again by using the printing press, and by having the banks write FIGURES IN BOOKS. All the principal governments, our own being among the leaders, are manufacturing this artificial purchasing power, and the reason we are threatened with a world-wide inflation is that the manufactured purchasing power is being created faster than real goods that people eat, drink and use.

Take first the gold. The United States government pays $35 an ounce to anyone anywhere who brings gold to the Treasury. When the gold is brought to the Treasury, it is buried in vaults. For two years we have been buying all the gold that is dug out of the ground in the world and then at considerable cost and trouble we have put it back in the ground.

But though the gold is back in the ground where it came from, the man who sold the gold to the Treasury has $35 of newly printed money to spend in the United States. His money is as good as if he had sold us something we could use. So the result is that, without adding anything to our current stock of real wealth, we have multiplied the number of persons who are legally entitled to share it.

This is the basic gold inflation, and there is no cure for it except to stop buying gold by reducing the price, or to use the gold to buy goods abroad that we can use and do not have to bury in the ground. Take next the printing press money. The Federal government, State government, cities and most of the big powers abroad, are now paying some part of their expenses by printing money. It is not called that. But it is that. The governments do not print money. They print bonds. These bonds, or at least a considerable part of them, they sell, not to investors who have saved money out of their income but to banks which give them the right to draw checks to pay officials and soldiers and workmen and contractors. This money which the banks give the governments is not merely the money that people have deposited with them. It is anywhere up to, say, ten times as much.

This purchasing power was not earned. It does not represent goods produced that are offered in exchange for other goods. It is artificial purchasing power which enables persons who do not produce melons to share what melons there are. Naturally, the melon producers have less melon to eat; they are the victims of an inflation."

In The Senate They're Having Stand-Up Trouble

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

Steady! In dealing with a national problem, as in driving on the highway, the same ones must save the fools.

But it isn't mainly to insult the dictators if you aren't the one who will suffer from their wrath.

If John L. Lewis keeps growing, Tories who now fear Roosevelt may pray for him to come back and be dictator.

If Senators are eager to "reform" something, they needn't go all the way to the Supreme Court building.

People aren't satisfied to feel superior. It is also necessary to force other people to admit it.

THE RADIO PERFORMER DOESN'T GRIN WHEN HIS FAN MAIL INCREASES. IT MEANS HE HAS PRO- NOUNCED ANOTHER WORD WRONG.

How bravely the clergymen of England denounce Mussolini! You see, if war comes, the clergy won't have to fight. People are horrified when 450 children are blown up. Then they go ahead making bombs to blow up other people's children. Example of reasoning creature being guided by sacred principle: "He's our leader and whatever he does is right."

AMERICANISM: Censoring movies to protect public morals; permitting the sale of filth and corruption in such vile books as "A World I Never Made."

A news item says the price of autographs is declining, but we notice where some fellow paid $5000 for a famous signature on a piece of spoiled canvas.

Fable: Once a man had a bear cub. And he said: "It's getting rough and will hurt somebody if I don't cage it." And he caged it before it happened.

Funny man! He cheats his neighbors to keep them poor and then feels cheated because he lives in such a poor neighborhood.

WOMEN DON'T CRY AS MUCH AS THEY ONCE DID. THEY HAVE MORE MIRRORS NOW AND CAN SEE HOW THEY LOOK.

Youth's eternal reaction to the threat of war: "Of course it's awful, but Gosh! won't it be exciting!"

The cheapest and easiest way to prevent inflation would be to give us a few thousand to invest in promising stocks.

Find a peaceful and happy land, secure and prosperous, and you will find a land without "great leaders."

Social drama: She gets drunk; carries on with a married man; steals. Sick in jail, she moans: "Life has been so unfair to me."

WEALTH IN BONDAGE

Editor "Register":

Two recent editorials in The Register suggest the following remarks. Your editorial truly says "Money is Not Wealth." Wealth is food, clothing and shelter, things necessary to human life and comfort. Wealth is a necessity. Money is a convenience. The producers of wealth are—significantly—the poorest people in our social system. The makers of money—financiers—are the richest.

The theory of government is based upon the surrender of the individual right of self-protection in exchange for the greater protection of the collective power. The fact that 90 per cent of our crimes result in the desire to possess money or currency which someone else owns, causes one to wonder whether the individual is receiving a just equivalent in his surrender of personal rights in exchange for collective rights and protection.

Currency—or what you call money—suggests that currency as at present functioning, is the key, not only of capitalistic wealth, but also of the multitude of crimes born of the desire to obtain wealth without producing it, by fraud, cunning, or violence. The immunity which robbery and murder enjoys, in spite of our police power—is inevitable under our financial system, where visible wealth—products needful to human existence—is concentrated in an anonymous currency, in which ownership loses its identity, passing from valid, legal and moral ownership to possible violent, criminal and fraudulent possession, without losing its legal-tender quality, and thus passing from its social use as a measure of value in exchange of commodities to a means of facility in robbery, graft, kidnapping and murder.

For money or currency is really wealth incognito. Its possession may mean legal ownership or fraudulent appropriation. Is not money in its present form just an easy way of obtaining wealth, without giving any equivalent value? Is not currency, the accomplice of thugs, robbers, grafters and kidnapers?

It is easier to steal a 100-dollar bill than a hundred dollars worth of lumber or cement. But a stolen bill is a legal demand for lumber or goods, just as much as a cashier's cheque.

Is not our currency—without which the producer cannot buy his product—Wealth in Bondage? The owner of currency is the boss of production. No matter how he became possessed of that currency. He is the owner of the wealth of the country. He is the dictator of life and labor. Also, currency is as sinister in commerce as in crime. For it is a measure, not of the value of a thing, but of its price—which is a very different thing—being, in its possibilities, a hidden form of involuntary tribute from the buyer to the seller.

Is man unequal to the creation of a currency which shall be a just measure of the thing traded and a voucher of its legal and identifiable ownership? It should, in any intelligent society, be as improvable to steal a $5000 greenback from the home-owner, as to steal his $5000 home, and until modern society faces this problem, all crimes of theft will prosper and neither life nor property will be safe from the gangster, the crook, the grafter and the fraud.

Little Benny's Note Book

BY LEE PAPE

Sam Cross was sitting on his front steps looking mad as usual, and me and Puds Simkins went over, me saying, "What's a matter, Sam?" and Puds saying, "What's you looking so farse about, Sam?" I'll show them, Sam. Cross said. They're not going to make me eat fish just because I don't like it. I've told them and I've warned them and now it's too late. I'm going to run away from home, that's what I'm going to do, he said, and I said, "Aw, we've heard that before."

You're always saying that, Puds said, and Sam said, "Well this time I'm really saying it. If you'd of been 5 minutes later you'd of been too late to of ever saw me again, because I've got a big suitcase all packed and I'm just about ready to leave forever. They can eat their own fish. Well, I guess I'll get the suitcase and start, he said."

And he went in and came out again with a big black shiny suitcase and started to wawk away, saying, "Well, so long, I'll write to you from different places."

Aw, that thing's empty, I said, and Sam said, "Come and lift it and you'll find out."

And he put it down and me and Puds both lifted it and it was pretty heavy all right, Sam saying, "There's plenty in it, there's stuff for about a year, I've even got canned stuff and my slingshot in case I get stuck some place and have to shoot herds."

And he picked up the suitcase again and one side of the handle broke and the suitcase banged down and opened and a lot of dirty laundry split out, Sam saying, "Aw rats, I went and took the wrong bag by mistake. O well, as long as I've got it this far I might as well take it around to the laundry and be done with it."

Wich he kept on doing, proving he's still the biggest liar around.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE WAITING PLEASURE

When a little child begins to show dislike of a duty, don't fight it out with him by commanding him to go do it. Avoid the battle if it is possible. Be casual and canny.

"After you have been to the bathroom I'll have your orange all ready fixed the way you like it, and then you can come with me to the store. Hurry along because we have a long order this morning. Maybe the bunnies will be out in Billy's yard. If we are early."

That is much better than saying, "Come, now. You see what time it is? You know perfectly well you have to go to the bathroom. Why do you make me fuss with you about it? Hurry! O, yes, you will. You must."

Provide a pleasure that will make getting the hard job over just a bit of a hurdle, and nothing more. When a child knows that as soon as he has completed the hated task he can have the bit of chocolate, or the new ball, or the run in the park, he is very likely to get the thing done and over with.

Sometimes he makes you show. Then, as quietly, with as few words as possible, show him into the bathroom and leave him there, or put him in whatever place he should be and leave him alone with his duty, assuring him that the happy thing is waiting for him the minute he is ready. Looking forward to a pleasure carries one over a hard place. That is true for a child as well as for adults.

I think it is perfectly all right to talk to a child who is on his way to the dentist, "Just as soon as we are through with the dentist we will go to the candy store and have a plate of ice cream. You can have your kind and I'll have mine. I choose strawberry."

He dreads the dentist's touch, but experience has taught him that he has to take it cheerfully and the thought of the awaiting pleasure carries him through. A few such experiences soon enable the child to make the best of a bad situation, strong in the faith that the end will be happy for him.

Don't tell the children that their troubles are imaginary. They know better. Be casual about them, say no more than you can help, and keep pointing ahead to the happy ending. Don't promise long in advance that if he will brush his teeth every morning, attend to his toilet duties cheerfully and without having to be reminded, that he will be rewarded grandly.

A child lives in the present, this minute, rather than this day, and tomorrow does not exist for him. His reward must be immediate, and come more as a happy surprise than as a looked for reward. He can sustain himself for a few minutes; he can endure for a brief time, sustained by the hope of the next minute; but he cannot carry on for days or weeks. That is why the promise of a reward at the end of the month, or term, or at Christmas, does not work. The child loses sight and feeling of it.

Children's troubles are real; their pain is keen. Soften the hardships by assuring the pleasure that is close by.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

News Behind The News

By Paul Mallon

WISH-LAW—

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Snap judges on the side-lines seem to be giving the Supreme Court decision in the Wagner cases whatever opinion they happen to desire.

There is a general tendency to accept the interpretation of the court minority in its decision, implying that almost limitless power was placed in the hands of the federal government, including "control over purely local industry." However, in courts as in politics these days, minorities do not count.

Better lawyers here have noted that Chief Justice Hughes in the majority opinion, referred repeatedly to the Schechter case decision in such a way as to stress that it is still in force. There seemed to be a clear distinction in his mind as to what business is local and what is national, what can be regulated federally and what cannot.

Mr. Hughes attempted to define his distinction, but as is the case in most court decisions, the definition was largely negative. Also the court specifically reserved the right to handle each case separately as it comes along.

EFFECT—

On the advice of counsel, the following suggestion may be offered to the confused man with a hot dog stand on the corner:

The foremost test of whether a business is in interstate commerce (and therefore subject to federal regulation) is whether a strike of its employees would cause any interference with the flow of interstate commerce. Another one is whether it buys more than 50 per cent of its raw materials from other states and sells more than 50 per cent of its product in other states.

If your business meets both of these tests, it is clearly in interstate commerce and can be regulated by the federal government, certainly as to collective bargaining and probably even further. If it meets only one of the tests, it may or may not be subject to federal authority. If it meets neither, it is probably beyond federal jurisdiction.

This new theory replaces the old one holding that only the movement of goods across state lines is interstate commerce, but any manufacturing done before the actual movement starts or any selling done after the goods reaches its destination is not interstate commerce.

Of course, no one will be able to classify each business until further test cases have fully explored the judgment of the court. The safest thing to do now is to ask your lawyer.

MOTIVE?—

If you ask the average well informed authority on the Supreme Court the "why" of its decision in the Wagner labor cases, you will be informed:

"Chief Justice Hughes wanted to save the court."

DAMAGE— Expert trade estimates of the production lost by the C.I.O. strikes in the auto industry thus far certainly indicate that Mr. John Lewis has been interfering with interstate commerce.

Cram's authoritative guess is that General Motors and Chrysler production was $20,000 cars below what it would have been if there had been no strike.

DANGERS— The worst angles of the court decision being mentioned by many a good friend of President Roosevelt (but not publicly) are these: The National Labor Relations board appears to have been given powers which it will need to use cautiously unless it wants to get into the dictatorial field of Messrs. Mussolini and Hitler. For all practical purposes, the individual business man or laborer in interstate commerce can be temporarily regulated arbitrarily by the board without much restraint except the conscience of the men on the board and the federal statutes against corruption and collusion. Also, the men on the board are generally known not as leaders but officials whose national reputations are yet to be made.

A live danger also exists in the possibility that labor may get what is known outside the supreme court as "the swelled head."

If it seeks to use the board for the purpose of lording itself over employers and to run the business, there may be trouble which even the supreme court will not be able to handle.

These two things are worrying more than one official.

CENSORSHIP

Another realistic danger lies behind the so-called A. P. decision.

The alertness of some members of the new order against press criticism and newspaper opposition is engendering fear that the new powers may be used for more than labor purposes. Actually what the court said was that newsmen may not be fired for joining their labor union, but may be fired for incompetency or any other legitimate purpose. If this rule is applied equally and fairly to newspapers supporting Mr. Roosevelt and those against him, few complaints will be heard.

But if the labor board starts summoning the books and papers and harassing only those publishers who happen to be against the administration, or who fail to support administration policies, there may be considerable complaint.

What will undoubtedly obviate all these dangers is that Mr. Roosevelt now has won not only authority but responsibility.
